Benjamin Catchings Alleged Adherence of United States to Body Was Unconstitutional.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, March 8.—The Supreme Court today refused to entertain an attempted legal challenge to American participation in the World Court.

An injunction proceeding instituted by Benjamin Catchings, a New York and Washington lawyer, was dismissed.

Catchings protested that adherence to the world tribunal was unconstitutional.

American Court Reservations to Be Discussed Informally.

The matter is not on the agenda, nor can it be placed there officially, but the league council and secretariat will take advantage of the presence of statesmen from all parts of the world to get a complete picture of the matter.

Robert B. Dula Jr. Ordered to Pay $5000 a Year Alimony

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, March 8.—Declaring that he would not recognize the right of any man to abandon his wife without providing support in the manner to which she has been accustomed, Supreme Court Justice Proskauer today awarded Mrs. Elsie Hinman Dula a separation from Robert B. Dula Jr. and $5000 yearly alimony.

Mrs. Dula had been receiving temporary alimony of $35 a week. Justice Proskauer said the evidence showed conclusively that the Dulas had been living at the rate of $25,000 a year. Dula he characterized as "an idle living on the bounty of his family."

Dula is a son of Robert B. Dula, former vice president of the American Tobacco Co., and formerly of St. Louis. Robert B. Dula Jr. and his wife lived at Tuckahoe N. Y., on a 17-acre estate which was given to Dula by his father. Mrs. Dula testified that the separation was brought about by her refusal to consent to having her husband sent to a sanitarium.

A suit against her father-in-law and his wife for $250,000 for alleged alienation of her husband's affections filed by Mrs. Dula is pending.

MERAMEC HIGHLANDS HOTEL IS BURNED TO THE GROUND

Plans for Remodeling Old Structure Had Been Tentatively Announced.

The old Meramec Highlands Hotel, 15 miles south of St. Louis, was destroyed by fire this afternoon. Flames were discovered at 1 p. m. and within an hour the rambling old structure, once a high-class summer resort, was burned to the ground.

The building had been untenanted for several years and was recently acquired with 500 acres of surrounding land by the Bixby-Smith Real Estate Co. They had announced tentative plans for remodeling the hotel.

The hotel was built about 30 years ago by Marcus Bernheimer, who operated it profitably for seven years as a summer resort. It was a four-story structure of 15 rooms, which overlooked a large bend in the Meramec River and many miles of the Meramec Valley. It was built of frame, brick and stone, and cost about $100,000. The cause of the fire could not be determined.

BOY, 16, HELD FOR AUTO FATALITY; DENT IN MACHINE

William Delisle Denies Making Statement Presented by Police at Inquest as His Confession.

DRIVER OF COUPE KILLED SATURDAY

Arrest Made When Mark Is Observed on Fender of Car in Front of Home of Girl, Also Held.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, March 8.—The driver who feloniously fled from the scene of an automobile collision at Garrison and Cass avenues late Saturday, when Nick Vitale, 31, of 1130 North Eighth street, was killed when his light coupe overturned.

Police officers declared that young Delisle admitted he was the driver of the machine after three hours of questioning yesterday afternoon. They offered a detailed typewritten statement in the form of a confession which they said he dictated but which he had failed to sign.

"I told them I was not near the accident," Delisle said. "They told me the way they thought it happened and insisted that was right."

The inquest was continued for further police investigation. Delisle is held at the House of Detention. Miss Lena Burkovitz, 15, of 1525 Franklin avenue, who corroborated Delisle's story, also was held.

Dent in Fender Caused Arrest.

A dent in the rusted fender of an old Hudson touring car parked in front of Miss Burkovitz's home at 4 a. m. yesterday, and a cut tire casing, led police to arrest Delisle, Adrevo and Sergt. Knox of the 29th precinct, who was on duty at the time. Delisle, who was a former partner of Andrew Carnegie, were married here April 24, 1924. They gave their ages as 16 and 31, respectively.

Counsel for Mrs. Kresge asserted that the real question before the court was whether or not Kresge was "to be mulcted out of more millions than he already had been roused out of by a grasping girl." Kresge had been a fool, counsel said, added that Mrs. Kresge had forced the capitalist to leave his home and then with desertion as its basis, had begun an action for separation.

Meanwhile her brother was brought from Pittsburgh by Kresge to effect a reconciliation, he said, and after considerable negotiation, advised Kresge that for $10,000, 000 cash the wife might be put in a mood where she would consider reconciliation.

Counsel for Mrs. Kresge said that the 2500 shares of stock sought in the suit were entitled to a stock dividend of 1250 shares, making a total valuation of $2,000,000.

He said that Kresge had met Mrs. Mercer in 1921 while she was studying music and that he had asked her how much she would need to complete her studies. She replied $10,000 as the amount, and Kresge had put up securities in trust which would net her that income. When the account was closed in 1923, Kresge took it over in his own name. Mrs. Kresge had received $146,000 income from the stock up to that time.

When the first Mrs. Kresge applied for a divorce in 1924, Kresge agreed to replace the account with a gift of 2500 shares of the Kresge department store stock, the attorney stated.

WIFE SEEKS $1,000,000 FROM STORE MAGNATE

Mrs. S. S. Kresge's Suit Based on Alleged Prenuptial Contract Goes to Trial.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, March 8.—The suit of Mrs. Doris Mercer Kresge to obtain $1,000,000 from her husband, Sebastian S. Kresge, head of the chain store system of Kresge & Co. on a prenuptial agreement was set for trial today in the Supreme Court before Justice Wagner.

The plaintiff, who is Kresge's second wife, alleged that her husband suddenly packed his belongings and left their apartment shortly after Easter last year. He has not returned since, she said.

"Gouged Out of Millions." According to Mrs. Kresge, her husband suddenly packed his belongings and left their apartment shortly after Easter last year. He has not returned since, she said.

Kresge and the former Mabel Doris Mercer of Pittsburgh, a daughter of Capt. George A. Mercer, who was a former partner of Andrew Carnegie, were married here April 24, 1924. They gave their ages as 16 and 31, respectively.

How Human Voice Was Carried Across the Ocean, With Words As Distinct as if in Same City

British and American News Writers Conduct Test of Wireless Telephony—Two Routes Used in Four-Hour Test.

By MABEL ABBOTT, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

NEW YORK, March 8.—Space rolled up like a scroll and for the first time in history America and England chatted across the Atlantic by wireless telephony in the quick give-and-take of informal conversation.

The occasion was a test yesterday of two-way Transatlantic telephone transmission by the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. in co-operation with the Radio Corporation of America and the British general postoffice. Experiments had been going on for several weeks. By coincidence, the achievement falls within the week which marks the fiftieth anniversary of the awarding of the basic telephonic patents to Dr. Alexander Graham Bell.

Some 30 British and as many American news writers were invited to make the first use of this epoch-making facility. It was given the honor of being the first person, aside from the men making the preliminary experiments, to talk across the Atlantic by wireless telephony, and the first woman ever to do so.

I sat in the long-distance telephone headquarters of the American Telephone Co. in New York, before a telephone instrument with a queer-looking transmitter. Around the sides of the large room and at long tables sat engineers and newspaper men and women, with ear-pieces clamped on their ears.

"Good afternoon," said a pleasant British voice in the receiver at my ear.

"Good morning," I replied. That sounds wrong, but is right; for though it was almost 2 o'clock in the afternoon for him, it was not quite 9 o'clock in the morning for me.

The voice was that of D. R. Spindlovic of the London Press Association. He was sitting in a room in the British General Postoffice, before an instrument similar to the one I had; his voice came over telephone wires 70 miles to a radio sending station at Rugby, England, thence by radio 2900 miles to a receiving station at Poulton, Me., and thence over telephone circuits 600 miles, to my ear.

JAPAN READY TO MEDIATE AS LEAGUE ASSEMBLES

Rumors Among Delegates Range All Way From Impending Doom of League to Agreement.

GERMANY UNWILLING TO MAKE PLEDGES

Vatican Said to Have Intervened to Get Permanent Council Seats for Spain, Brazil and Poland.

By the Associated Press. GENEVA, March 8.—The special session of the League of Nations Assembly was opened at 3:10 o'clock this afternoon, with Viscount Ishii in the chair. The galleries were crowded.

Previously, the council met in a brief secret session to consider the program for the assembly.

The hum of conversation in the corridors became so deafening after the opening of the meeting that Viscount Ishii sent out a messenger beseeching silence, declaring the noise prevented the delegates from hearing one another as they saw around the table.

A mass of rumors touching on the league's crisis occupied the crowd, which was composed of diplomats, delegates to the league assembly, newspaper men and members of the general public. These rumors ranged from predictions that the situation was hopeless, and the league doomed, to rosy forecasts that the whole matter would soon be clarified.

One certainty is that the exchange of views among the leaders is continuing unceasingly, though there is not much hope of achieving concord before the return from Paris of M. Briand.

Ishii's Opening Address. Viscount Ishii, in opening the Assembly, said the special session, the first in the history of the league, was of the highest significance to the people of the whole world.

"The great nation of Germany asks to be admitted to the league," he continued. "I venture to see in this a sign that the covenants which unite the members of the league, as long as they are applied, however imperfectly, in the spirit of international equity which underlies them, will appeal with growing force to the hopes and consciences of the nations of the world."

The Credentials Committee then went into session while the Assembly suspended for an hour.

Dr. Alfonso da Costa, former Premier of Portugal, was elected president of the assembly by a majority of 26.

President Da Costa, in his inaugural address, deplored the "absence of that great people, the United States," but declared that a new era was opening, thanks to the Locarno accord, leading to Germany's entrance into the League.

Alluding to the Council crisis, he declared, the League had reached a turning point. There must be no backward step, but all must co-operate to increase the prestige of the organization.

Sir Austen Chamberlain, the British Foreign Secretary, was made chairman of the first committee of the assembly, which is to pass upon Germany's request for admission into the league.

Louis Loucheur of France was elected chairman of the second committee, charged with less important matters, and the subject of Germany's case. By their selection, Sir Austen and M. Loucheur automatically became vice presidents of the assembly.

The six other vice presidents were: Sig. Scialoja of Italy, Viscount Ishii of Japan, Sir James Allen of New Zealand, Senor Caballero of Paraguay, M. Titulescu of Rumania and Angel Morales of the Dominican Republic.

The assembly adjourned without fixing the date of its next meeting. Sweden's Viewpoint. The British Foreign Secretary, Sir Austen Chamberlain, had a long consultation with Foreign Minister Vandervelde of Belgium before proceeding to the league palace, while M. Unden of Sweden, who is looming as the possible intermediary between the extreme positions of France and Germany, was buttonholed by many statesmen, for Sweden must be won around before any plans on the council can be given to others except Germany.

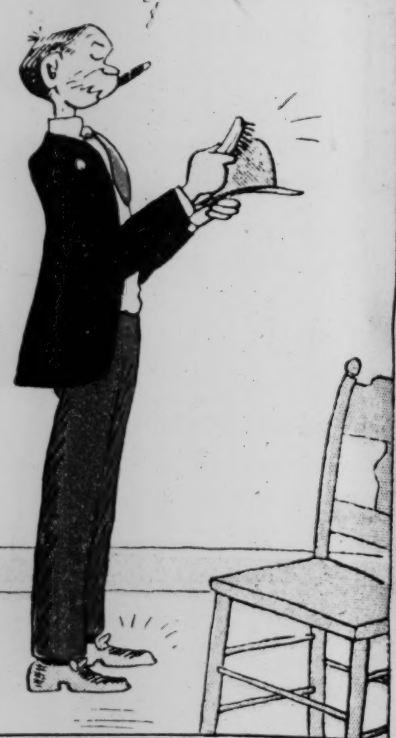

"We are opposed to any additional increase in the Council," said the Swedish delegate to the assembly.

LEGAL FIGHT ON JOINING WORLD COURT FRUITLESS

Supreme Court Refuses to Entertain Challenge to American Participation in Tribunal.

PETITION OF EASTERN LAWYER DISMISSED

Benjamin Catchings Alleged Adherence of United States to Body Was Unconstitutional.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—The Supreme Court today refused to entertain an attempted legal challenge to American participation in the World Court.

An injunction proceeding instituted by Benjamin Catchings, a New York and Washington lawyer, was dismissed.

American Court Reservations to Be Discussed Informally.

GENEVA, March 8.—The American reservation to the League of Nations Assembly was discussed informally by the delegates of the present league assembly. The matter is not on the agenda, nor can it be placed there officially, but the league council and secretariat will take advantage of the presence of statesmen from all parts of the world to get a consensus on the matter.

The American reservation, as has been repeatedly pointed out, is with the exception of two, obvious. The question of election of judges will be embarrassing. The United States Government naturally will not participate in the election of judges. But how? Washington can designate its preferences and send them to the council and assembly by mail or cable or courier.

On the other hand, should there be several ballots it is hard to see how America can vote "in absentia." Inasmuch as the protocol specifies that the assembly and league council shall elect the judges, it will be necessary to amend the document so as to include "and the United States."

The matter of "advisory" opinions is the really difficult one. The judges already have raised the question over rules and procedure and while they have followed the practice of public discussions there is considerable doubt if they would bind themselves always to refrain from private sessions. It is also certain that the court will not bind itself not to give advisory opinions on matters affecting the United States solely.

As the matter now stands the League council probably will be forced to ask the court's opinion of the "advisory opinions" as the majority or unanimity is necessary for the council's acceptance of such opinions.

It is Washington's plan to broach the question of acceptance of the American reservations with signatories of the court's protocol separately, without any overtures toward the League. That method will take a long time.

The replies of the court members will be contingent upon their relationship with America at the moment. One objection can block a decision.

Any member of the League can bring the matter before the assembly—Great Britain has just created a precedent by asking that the league study reservations made by Austria to the International Opium Convention.

$10,000 SALARY TOO MUCH, PASTOR SAYS, SUGGESTING CUT
Wants to Take Post in Philadelphia at $8000 Until He Has Proved Ability.

PHILADELPHIA, March 8.—Ten thousand dollars a year is $2000 too much salary at present for the Rev. A. Ray Petty of New York, who has accepted a call to Grace Baptist Temple, Philadelphia, as successor to the late Dr. Russell H. Conway.

In a letter read to the congregation last night, Dr. Petty wrote that "as a younger man who has not yet demonstrated his ability," he did not desire the same salary as his predecessor.

He would prefer, therefore, that his salary the first year be fixed on a basis of $1000, he wrote.

The Rev. William D. McCurdy, associate pastor, intimated that the congregation would decline to reduce its offer downward.

Miss Palmer eventually furnished Mrs. Brewster's place, the latter testified.

This is a renewal under changed conditions of the original Ruthenberg agreement, which expired in 1923. The Ruthenberg company is financed by the Rothschild interests of Paris and a group of Jewish capitalists in America and England.

FLYER LOST IN DUST 12,000 FEET ABOVE DESERT

Tries to Follow River Nile but Follows Shadow Instead—Finally Lands at Cairo.

By the Associated Press.
CAIRO, Egypt, March 8.—Alan J. Cobham, who is flying from Capetown, South Africa, to England in an attempt to establish a speed record, arrived here yesterday after passing through a tremendous dust storm, which rose to an altitude of more than 12,000 feet, blotting out landmarks and greatly endangering the flyer.

For a time Cobham was completely lost and faced the possibility of a forced landing in the desert, from which he might never have escaped. He said it was impossible to steer by the compass and he followed what he believed to be the River Nile. Suddenly he discovered that he was following a shadow and not the Nile. His position seemed hopeless. A landing would likely have proved fatal to himself and his companions.

Luck at last brought Cobham within sight of the Nile and the railroad. The aviator brought the machine down and kept close to the railroad. Although the dust was thicker lower down, the engine in the plane was not affected.

Cobham, who recently flew from London to Capetown, started on his return flight to England Feb. 26. The Cape-to-Cairo flight is about 2,000 miles, and Cobham therefore accomplished it, with stops at various places, in 10 days.

Between Monrovia, in the lower Sudan, and Khartoum, the heat was appalling. The lubricating oil reached a temperature of 184 degrees Fahrenheit. Cobham anxiously watched his oil pressure, but it held good at 80 pounds to the square inch and his air-cooled engine purred through without faltering.

MAYOR TO TAKE UP WALL DISPUTE WITH THE C. OF C.

Miller Agrees to Meet Committee on Conciliation and Lay 'Cards on Table' Tomorrow.

UTILITIES DIRECTOR ALSO TO BE VISITED

Electric Lighting Contract Now to the Front as the Chief Issue in the Controversy.

Mayor Miller will meet a Chamber of Commerce committee at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon, to state his side of the controversy with Director of Public Utilities Wall, whom he has ordered to stand trial at 10 a. m. Wednesday, for his official life.

The arrangement for the conference was made this afternoon, when Carl F. G. Meyer, president of the chamber, called on the Mayor at the request of the board of directors of the chamber. The other members of the committee are Harold M. Hess, fire insurance man, and W. Scott Hancock, lawyer.

The Mayor told Meyer he would lay his "cards on the table" to the committee. Meyer said he would also consult Director Wall, and that the committee hoped to get data for a definite report on the merits of the controversy.

Meyer Named by Directors.

The chamber of commerce directors met Saturday, and decided Meyer, then out of the city, to take the initiative in an attempt to adjust the Miller-Wall difficulties. He learned of his task after returning today.

In advance discussions of the Wall trial, charge No. 8 has assumed chief importance in the Mayor's list of nine specifications.

That when, in the performance of my duty to supervise all departments of the city administration, I requested you to aid the Board of Public Service, of which you are a member, in withholding the letting of a contract for street lighting until an opportunity could be had to investigate serious charges relative thereto, you refused to give me any co-operation.

This charge relates to the so-called Ryckoff contract for light installations in North St. Louis, amounting to nearly $1,300,000, which was obtained by A. M. Ryckoff of Chicago over the protests of St. Louis bidders.

The latest contribution to the discussion of the Ryckoff contract was made today by Robert J. Kratky, Mayor Miller's former campaign manager and present close adviser. Kratky sent to Henry S. Caulfield, attorney for Director Wall, a letter, stating that certain affidavits, placed in the hands of Clayton Allen, of the Westinghouse company, are used in Wall's behalf, or otherwise made public by Wall, and if they contain libelous matter against Kratky, the latter "will be compelled to hold Mr. Wall to strict accountability."

As told in yesterday's Post-Dispatch, Allen, who is district manager of the Westinghouse company, collected several affidavits and records of conversations, because the letting of the contract, although Ryckoff, who owned the contract, was backed by the Westinghouse company. Allen turned the affidavits over to Wall's lawyer. His reason for doing so, he said, was that an unjust attack had been made on his company by the city administration, in the fight on Wall. So he decided, he said, that it was "time we laid our cards on the table."

The principal affidavit as has been told, is that of Ryckoff and A. S. Wood of the Westinghouse company, stating that "Kratky asked them for $500, in a conversation last September in which the lighting contract, and the need of money for Miller's campaign obligations were mentioned. Kratky promises having made any such request. He is an attorney, and represented one of the unsuccessful bidders for the contract which Ryckoff got. He insists, however, that he made it clear at all times that his 'influence' with the Miller administration was not for sale."

While Mayor Miller makes the Ryckoff contract one of his principal lines of complaint against Director Wall, the investigation asked by the Mayor was duly held at the time, and the contract was awarded only after the failure to show any irregularity in the matter. The Mayor said, after attending the hearing, that he did not "see anything to it."

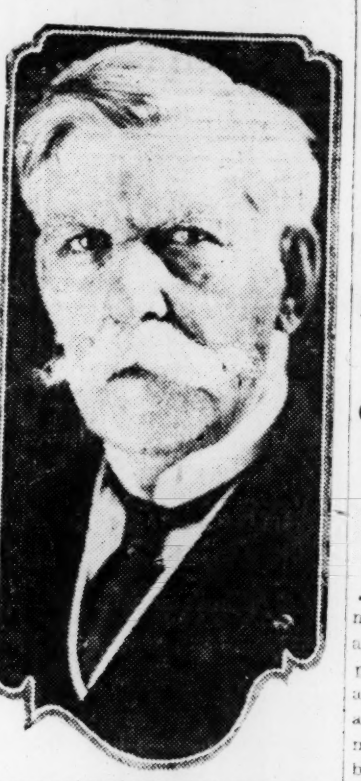

Attorney Caulfield, when asked today as to Kratky's notification of him, said, "I shall try to contact Mr. Wall's defense to the best of my ability." He would not comment on the Ryckoff matter. Daniel Bartlett is associated with him in the case.

Further Charges by Mayor.

U. S. Justice Holmes, 85 Today, Smokes Cigarettes And Is No Teetotaler

Always Has Held People Have Right to Laws They Want—Hasn't Missed a Sitting in 24 Years' Service.

By CHARLES MICHELSON.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Oliver Wendell Holmes, son of "The Autocrat of the Breakfast Table," will celebrate his eighty-fifth birthday today by walking to the United States Supreme Court, of which he has been an Associate Justice since Roosevelt's day, and occupying his place on the bench from which he has not been absent once since his appointment in 1902.

In other words, being 85 means nothing in Justice Holmes' young life. His resignation of the score of age has been rumored several times a political situation suggested a vacancy would be handy to take care of some eminent political partisan, but Justice Holmes has shown no leaning down decisions unmoved, and recently he hazarded the thought that he would like to break Chief Justice Roger B. Taney's record. Taney died in office when he was 57.

There is nothing about Justice Holmes that makes it unlikely that he still will be listening to lawyers and writing clear, philosophical opinions when he is 100. His white hair is still thick. His broad forehead is unwrinkled and his eyes are bright. There is still his big white mustache, and he is even more intelligent than Senator Warren. Warren of Wyoming is a youth of 31.

Was Captain in Civil War.

The veteran of the bench was a Captain in the Civil War, in which service, incidentally, he was three times wounded. On the bench Justice Holmes takes notes incessantly. He does not often interrupt a lawyer, his theory being that an attorney should receive all the latitude possible, but when he does interrupt a question it is likely to suggest a plea by reason of its aptness and the impossibility of answering it without abandoning the logic on which the advocate has been relying.

He is one of the two liberals on the high bench, Louis Brandeis being the other.

Later it became obvious that Justice Holmes, more than any other member of the Supreme Court, was a believer in the doctrine that it was the people's right to have their views deferred to by the highest court.

Celebrated Decision.

He put this into language in a decision on the case of the right of Oklahoma to enact a law guaranteeing the right to have their views deferred to by the highest court.

"It may be said, in a general way that the police power extends to all the great public needs. It may be put forth in the aid of what is sanctioned by usage, or held by the prevailing morality, or strong and preponderant opinion, to be greatly and immediately necessary to the public welfare. Among matters of that sort probably few would doubt that both usage and preponderant opinion give their sanction to enforcing the primary conditions of successful commerce."

Justice Holmes has no message to give to the country on his eighty-fifth birthday. In a recent declaration at a class reunion at Harvard, when he said, "The root at once of joy and beauty is to put all one's powers to a great end—to hammer out as compact and solid a piece of work as one can to try to make it first-rate and to leave it undisturbed."

Early in his judicial career—he was a chief justice in Massachusetts before he came to the Federal bench—he seemed to struggle to suppress a particularly lively humor. The inception of this suppression was that he found it difficult as a young man to get away from the shadow of the greatness of his father and the reflection of his whimsical verses and philosophy.

Once in the big tobacco case a lawyer was arguing and ventured the assertion that any man who smoked cigarettes—this was years ago—was either a fool or a dupe.

Justice Smokes Cigarettes.

"Well," commented the solemn Justice, "you may be right. Nobody has ever accused me of being a dupe."

The Justice still smokes cigarettes.

whether he had furnished or would furnish a further bill of particulars to Wall or his counsel, said he would not and that he considered the nine charges sufficient to show the defense what it had to meet. The Mayor will be Judge and jury, and has stated that he also will be a witness, and that there will not be many other witnesses for the prosecution.

Two witnesses against Wall probably will be Leonard Day, selected by the Mayor for Wall's post as director, and George Heath, Day has made an affidavit that Wall said to him, "This is the crookedest administration we ever had." Heath, formerly in the electrical division of the department, is expected to testify that Wall, a hydraulic engineer, was not familiar with the details of electrical work.

SKETCH OF HOLDUP FIGHT IS FOUND IN SUSPECT'S POCKET

Accurate Drawing Shows Robbers Running From Police After Theft at Hannibal on Feb. 7.

PRISONER EXPLAINS A FRIEND DREW IT

G. R. Stone of Shelby, Mo., Admits Burglary Sentence—Wanted at Home for Theft.

A pencil sketch, depicting a running fight between a policeman and three fleeing men, impressed police that the owner, whom they arrested yesterday on suspicion and who said he was Alvin Raymond Stone, 25 years old, of Shelby, Mo., had first-hand knowledge of such a fray. In fact, it appeared to them to be a reproduction of a fight between police and three robbers at Hannibal, Mo., Feb. 7 last, in which one robber was killed, another wounded and captured, while the third escaped.

The prisoner declined to comment, other than to admit ownership of the sketch and to say that it had been drawn from newspaper accounts of the Hannibal incident by one familiar with the scene of the fight, which occurred at an unfrequented spot along the Mississippi River near the Washburn bridge tunnel at Hannibal.

The robbers, who had driven to Hannibal from Quincy in a stolen automobile, had entered two taxicabs and robbed them.

Warning From Sister.

Stone was lured at Vandeventer avenue and Delmar boulevard and questioned after he had been seen talking to a man with a police record. In his pockets, besides the sketch, was found a letter, presumably from a sister in Shelby, which read in part: "Don't send any more mail here. The Sheriff is looking for you."

This prompted St. Louis police to communicate with the authorities of Shelby County and a telephone call was received from Sheriff Orr, asking that the prisoner be held for him and saying that Stone was wanted on several charges, among them the theft of some watermelons at Lehigh, Mo.

The sketch was drawn by a friend with whom he stopped over night at Hannibal, the day following the fight. Stone today told a Post-Dispatch reporter, and was inadvertently picked up by him when he packed his belongings to come to St. Louis.

Arrested shortly after midnight Saturday, Stone was held in the holdover for 20 hours, the legal limit without a charge being placed against him, and released last evening. His effects, including a

CREMATED, AS HE WISHED, TO 'MERRY WIDOW' WALTZ AIR

Alexander M. Carlisle Paid Bill in Advance and Framed Receipt for Service.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, March 8.—To the tune of gay music, including strains from "The Merry Widow" waltz, the coffin of Alexander M. Carlisle, famous shipbuilder and friend of the former Kaiser, was taken from the chapel at the Golden Green Crematorium today into the funeral chamber for cremation.

The ceremony was arranged by Mr. Carlisle himself a few weeks ago, when he knew his death was near. He paid in advance for his own cremation and had the receipt framed. He also settled the fee of the funeral organizer.

"I have no fear of death," he said. "I want nobody to grieve. Therefore I have paid for and instructed the organizer to play the waltz from 'The Merry Widow.'"

There were no formal religious rites, no hymns and no prayers. About a dozen mourners were in the chapel, including Mr. Carlisle's daughter, the Baroness Von Versen. In the midst of the unusual ceremony she collapsed.

INCOME TAX OFFICE HOURS

Collector of Internal Revenue Becker today announced that his office would remain open until 9 o'clock every night until next Monday for the accommodation of persons who have not yet filed their Federal income tax returns. With Monday as the last day of filing, Collector Becker estimated there were yet 52,500 returns still to be filed. The fact that taxpayers are requiring more help than last year in making out their returns, also makes it necessary to extend the closing time.

Becker expects 70,000 returns to be filed this year, as against 134,000 filed last year.

Found Unconscious From Poison.

Rose Wilson, 45 years old, 2620A Allen avenue, was taken to the city hospital today, suffering from iodine poisoning. She was found unconscious in the bathroom of the home, an empty bottle, which had contained the poison, on the floor. Her husband, James Wilson, told police she had been ill and despondent.

sketch, were returned to him, and he was allowed to depart. A half block away he was rearrested, and when searched the sketch was missing.

"It has given me enough trouble," he explained, "to 'fear it up'."

Admits Prison Sentence.

Stone related that he had lived on a farm near Lehigh, and a companion broke into a Shelby store and stole some watermelons, which he was selling on the farm, and his companion was arrested and fined.

He left home, he said, and worked on farms in the Northwest, finally deciding to come to St. Louis to seek work as a shoe cutter, a trade he had learned in prison.

Prison records show Stone, then 20 years old, was received at the penitentiary at Jefferson City, Mo., July 22, 1921, from Shelby County, to serve five years for burglary, and was paroled by Gov. Hyde on Feb. 27, 1923, after serving about 19 months.

$4,040,899,000 TOTAL ASSESSMENT IN STATE

Increase of $48,410,000. Over Amount Fixed by Equalization Board Last Year.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 8.—Further reduction in the assessment of lands and marked increases in the assessment of town and city real estate are contained in reports of the assessors to the State Tax Commission on real and personal property in Missouri for 1923 taxes, being a continuation of the trend in recent years to lower rural assessments and increase those in the cities.

Real and personal property in the entire State was reported by the assessors of the 114 counties and the city of St. Louis at a total of $4,040,899,000, an increase of $48,410,000 over the total of $3,992,489,000 fixed by the State Board of Equalization for taxes last year.

However, the $1,476,102,150 reported by the assessors for land was a decrease of $40,817,939 from the assessments on land last year, while the $1,395,725,195 reported for town lots, or city property represented an increase of $101,223,644 over last year. Personal property, reported at $6,071,774, is a decrease of $5,990,719 from last year.

Subject to Revision.

These assessments are subject to revision by the State Tax Commission in its recommendations to the Board of Equalization. The final assessments for taxes this year are fixed by the State Board of Equalization.

In fixing the final assessments last year the Board of Equalization reduced farm land assessments $24,615,278 under the previous year and increased the city and town lot assessments $56,677,939. In 1924 the board reduced farm land assessments $72,231,150 under 1923, and increased the town lot assessment $106,671,231 over the 1923 assessment.

In this fighting his right eye was shot out when he was leading his men against the hidden Moroccans. He lost his left arm in 1924 as a consequence of wounds suffered in the Moroccan fighting.

OLDEST SCANDINAVIAN SKULL FOUND, IS 9000 YEARS OLD

Relic at Ro, in Bohuslan, Sweden. Dates From Time Baltic Was Fresh Water Lake.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, March 8.—The skull of the oldest Scandinavian has been unearthed at Ro, in the Swedish Province of Bohuslan. Dr. H. Hagg, of the Stockholm Rigmuseum and Prof. C. M. Furst say it is the only known human skull of the Ancylus Period, 9000 years ago, when the Baltic was a fresh water lake, and Southern Sweden, with the Danish Islands, were connected with Continental Europe.

Dr. K. Jessen, Danish geologist, has confirmed the fact that the skull probably belongs to one of the oldest inhabitants of Northern Europe, but he is puzzled by the fact that hitherto no Ancylus strata have been discovered in the whole of Bohuslan.

Ancylus is the Latin name of a small crustacean which roamed about on the shores of the Baltic Lake in those remote times.

AGREES NOT TO DRINK OR DRIVE CAR; PENALTY STAYED

Henry Albert Had Been Fined and Sentenced After Auto Accident.

Rather than serve a term of 75 days in the workhouse, Henry Albert, 49 years old, of 5223 Genevieve avenue, today agreed with Police Judge Beck to refrain from driving his automobile and drinking intoxicating liquor for an indefinite period.

He had been fined $125 and given the workhouse sentence after a trial for driving while intoxicated, speeding and careless driving, Feb. 28, when his machine collided with another car on the 5500 block on Natural Bridge avenue. He admitted he had a drink of whiskey.

On his statement that he had a wife and five young children to support, Judge Beck offered to accept deferred payment of the cented deferred payment of the fine and stay the workhouse sentence, if Albert would refrain from drinking and driving so long as Probation Officer Noll, attached to the court, saw fit. Albert agreed and was released.

Omaha Hotel Bars the Charleston.

OMAHA, Neb., March 8.—The Charleston takes too much room. Omaha's leading hotel lacks sufficient space for the performing of the newest step, it stated today in requesting its guests to forego this active dance. The hotel also stated that its action was taken as a matter of courtesy to others.

No Divorce Evil Among Swans.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, March 8.—According to the biological survey of the Department of Agriculture, there is no such thing as a divorce in the swan family. Once the swan mates, it is for life. The Department suggests that a pair of swans make an interesting attraction for a private lake or pond. Swans are slow to mate, it was said, but they remain mated permanently.

COX'S PAPER OPENS ATTACK ON HORSE-RACING AT MIAMI
MIAMI, Fla., March 8.—An attack on horse racing at the Miami Jockey Club's track at Hialeah coupled with a threat that the season must be shortened or there will be no racing here next year was printed yesterday on the front page of the Miami Daily News, of which former Gov. James M. Cox of Ohio is publisher.

Although admitting that the racing has been well conducted, the News says that $20,000,000 has been diverted to this sport and that "business men are agreed that the racing operations have been so prolonged as to bring about a considerable economic disturbance."

Horse racing, which is concluding its second season here next Saturday, has been the bright spot in a dull winter. Promoters of other attractions are envious of the Jockey Club's financial success and there is a disposition on the part of many business men, particularly those interested in real estate, to attribute the delirium in which Miami now finds itself to the diversion of money to betting.

Shortly after the track was launched last winter by Joseph M. Smoot, formerly of Buffalo, N. Y., backed by a number of Miamians, including Frank B. Shutta, publisher of the Miami Herald, opposition developed in other parts of the State. As a result the season was shortened from 51 to 45 days this winter.

"Miami cannot be bled white," declares the News. "A 45-day season is too much of a good thing. It is to be hoped that the sport can be continued, but if lost for coin is to outweigh both the general welfare and public opinion, then there is but one thing to do, and that is to bring racing to an end."

Suggests 1928 Democratic Ticket.

By the Associated Press.

RALEIGH, N. C., March 8.—A Democratic presidential ticket composed of Josephus Daniels, former Secretary of the Navy, and Representative A. W. Barkley of Kentucky, was proposed at a prohibition "field day" here by Representative W. D. Upshaw of Georgia.

MAN FATALLY WOUNDS SON
Brunswick, Mo., Butcher Said to Have Been Threatened.

SPECIAL TO THE POST-DISPATCH.
MOBERLY, Mo., March 8.—An inquest will be held here tonight over Deskey Jasper, 30 years old, of Brunswick, who was shot and killed by his father, W. T. Jasper.

late Saturday. Jasper died in a local hospital yesterday morning. The shooting occurred in Brunswick, the home of the Jasper family. The son, according to relatives, held a grudge against his father. Saturday afternoon he went to his father's meat market and is said to have announced that he was going to kill the elder Jasper. The father fired two shots from a revolver, one striking the son in the right wrist and the other just below the heart, passing through his body. Young Jasper was removed to a local hospital where he died within a few hours. Prosecution Attorney Stringer, of Randolph County, has taken charge of the investigation. The authorities of Chariton County are assisting. Brunswick is in Chariton County.

ANOTHER APPEAL MADE FOR MEININGER

Transfer to Supreme Court
En Banc of Ex-Cashier's Convictions Sought.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 8.—Attorneys for Arthur O. Meininger, former cashier of the wrecked Night and Day Bank of St. Louis, today filed a motion in Division No. 2 of the State Supreme Court for transfer to court en banc of Meininger's appeals from two convictions of assenting to receipt of deposits when he knew the bank was insolvent. Division No. 2 affirmed both convictions on Jan. 11 last, and Meininger now is in the penitentiary.

Division No. 2 unanimously affirmed both convictions, in adopting opinions written by Commissioner Edward Higbee, and last week overruled defense motions for rehearing of the appeals in Division No. 2. The convictions carried sentences of five and three years, to be served consecutively.

Technicalities again are raised by the defense in this effort to save Meininger from further imprisonment for wrecking of the bank, with a total loss to depositors and stockholders of approximately $1,600,000. In affirming the convictions, the Court overruled a score of legal technicalities presented by the defense.

The motion states that both the Constitution and State law draw a distinction between insolvency and failing circumstances and contends that Division No. 2, in affirming the convictions, obliterated all distinction between the insolvency and failing circumstances of a bank.

"Since the Constitution and the statute draw a distinction between insolvency and failing circumstances," the motion stated, "we respectfully submit that this Court has no power to obliterate that distinction. If the courts are going to obliterate provisions of the statutes and Constitution, how can any citizen be blamed for arrogating to himself the same rights? The founders of this Government proclaimed it to be a Government of law, not of men. If the judgment of any individual or act of individuals is permitted to be substituted for that of the fixed definition prescribed by Constitution and the statute, anarchy is a certain result."

Circuit Attorney Sidener, who was at Union today to arrange a new setting for the sixth trial of Jimmy Hogan, St. Louis gangster, on a robbery charge, formally dismissed the 44 pending indictments against Meininger. The Circuit Attorney had announced in January, when Meininger surrendered, that he would take this action. Meininger was convicted in the Franklin County Circuit Court on charge of venue.

50 SOCIETIES INDORSE 85-CENT SCHOOL TAX

Citizens' Meetings Being Held in Interest of Measure—Election March 23.

REGISTRATION BOOKS

FOR SCHOOL TAX VOTE
OPEN AT THE CITY HALL

REGISTRATION books for the school tax election March 23 will be open in the Board of Election Commissioners' office this week so that voters who have moved since the mayoralty election last spring can transfer registration by appearing at Room 120, City Hall. There will be no new registrations. No change of address will be accepted after Saturday, March 13.

The school tax election, to consider a continuance of the rate of 85 cents on the $100 valuation for another four-year period, will be for taxpayers. All voters who pay taxes of any kind or share in the payment of taxes will be eligible to vote, if properly registered. The statement of the voter that he is a taxpayer will be accepted. A majority vote is necessary for continuing the 85-cent rate.

More than 50 organizations have pledged their support to the Citizens' campaign Committee in its work for a four-year renewal of the 85-cent tax rate for public school purposes, at a special taxpayers' election March 23.

Resolutions promising assistance are being received daily by Edward Gengenbach, campaign secretary, and many organizations, which have not adopted resolutions as yet, have expressed approval through their officers. Citizens' meetings in the interest of the tax rate are being held almost nightly. This evening at the Eugene Field School, 4466 Olive street, Gengenbach and Edmond F. Brown, district superintendent of schools, will address voters in that vicinity.

Organizations which have pledged assistance include the Woman's Chamber of Commerce, Kiwanis Club, Federated Women's Club, Central Trades and Labor Union, Public School Patrons' Alliance and the parent-teacher organizations of Fanning, Wyman, Charles, Waring, Jackson, Shaw, Ames, Lowell, Scruggs and Madison schools.

"The danger which the committee fears," said Gengenbach today, "is that many who heartily favor the continuance of the 85-cent rate will fail to recognize the importance of voting. It is our hope that there will be such an emphatic majority as will advertise St. Louis to the entire country as the city that believes in education. Every vote will be needed to insure such a majority."

MEETING PROTESTS AGAINST MEXICO'S CHURCH POLICY

Congressman Tells Gathering in Washington He Will Propose U. S. Withdrawal Recognition.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—A mass meeting under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus passed resolutions protesting against "the policy of religious persecution being followed by the present government of Mexico."

Representative Boylan (Dem.), of New York, one of the speakers, who demanded in the House last week that the United States sever diplomatic relations with Mexico, announced that he would introduce a bill asking that the United States "withdraw its recognition from this Bolshevik and robber republic to the South until it amends its Communist constitution on the grounds of decency, righteousness and justice." American recognition, he said, "should not be extended to Mexico thanks to Soviet Russia."

The meeting was told by Rabbi Abraham Simon, of the Washington Hebrew Congregation, that the Mexican constitution had apparently been written overnight and showed signs of "constitutional despotism." He declared that the Mexican constitution "bristles with fear that the churches will obtain too much power and hold too many lands."

NEW EXPEDITION TO AFRICA

Field Museum Group to Penetrate Congo Seeking Specimens.

CHICAGO, March 8.—A new expedition to Central Africa in search of zoological specimens is announced by the Field Museum of Natural History. Leaving Chicago the first of April, the party of three scientists plan to spend a year on the continent, penetrating the southern head waters of the Congo.

The expedition is being financed by H. B. Conover, associate in ornithology at the museum, and Robert T. Everard of Detroit. With J. T. Zimmer, assistant curator of birds at the institution, they will constitute the African party.

NINE BANK FAILURES IN ONE COUNTY IN 3 YEARS

Davies in Northwest Missouri Experiencing Aftermath of War-Time Land Boom.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
GALLATIN, Mo., March 5.—Davies County, one of the rich agricultural counties in the center of the northwest quarter of Missouri, is going through the pains of a financial reorganization, the aftermath of the land boom of war days. Bank after bank has closed its doors—nine within the last three years.

Saturday the Farmers' Bank of Janssen, eight miles north of here, posted a closing notice on its door the afternoon of the closing here Friday of the Farmers' Exchange Bank, one of the oldest and biggest institutions.

But the spirit of the people of this county remains unbroken. Almost before the rumble of the closings quit echoing there was talk of new banks. A group of the leading of Gallatin and Davies counties met here yesterday to discuss plans for reorganizing the Farmers' Exchange Bank here, or to launch a new bank. There is only one bank left here, and it is not admitted for one minute that Gallatin is a one-bank town.

That Davies County should be particularly hard hit by bank failures may be laid only to the fact that land here rode to the top in the war boom. Prices then soared just as low as possible. Prices of $200 to $300 an acre were very common immediately after the war, while now a land owner considers himself lucky if he can get $75 an acre.

While the prices were at the peak naturally there was much land speculation. Nearly all the paper was carried by the banks. Most of these loans now are frozen solid. The landowner finds himself unable to sell the land, replace the loans from other sources or, in many cases, even able to make enough profit from the land to keep up the interest and taxes.

Just how widespread has been the effect of bank failures in this county is best realized from the fact that three years ago there were 17 banks operating, and nine of them have closed. One new bank has been organized. In no case has failure been attributable to crookedness of any sort.

Bankers Lose Personal Fortunes.
When the Farmers' Exchange Bank here closed it was one of those cases where the personal fortunes of its officers had been poured into the hole in an attempt to save the institution and it has been hard for Gallatin citizens to realize the "million dollar bank" as it was known has gone to the wall.

That bank had been running 50 years. It was founded March 20, 1873, by former Gov. A. M. Dockery and T. B. Yates. When Dockery went into politics he sold his interest in the bank, but has been and still is one of its depositors.

The Farmers' Exchange Bank had deposits in excess of half a million dollars. There was a capital and surplus of about $130,000. Depositors may recover much of their money, if some of the $800,000 in notes held by the institution can be realized on.

Police Trousers in Burglars' Loot.
A pair of police uniform trousers was included in $200 worth of clothing stolen by burglars who looted the Royal Cleaning and Dyeing Co.'s offices, 1514 Park avenue, last night. The trousers had been left for repair.

WAINWRIGHT A HERO OF SPANISH WAR, DEAD

Rear Admiral, Executive Officer on the Maine Received Surrender of Cervera.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Death has removed from the roster of the Navy another of the outstanding heroes of the Spanish-American War. Rear Admiral Richard Wainwright, retired, who died late Saturday night at the age of 76 in the Washington Naval Hospital. He will be buried tomorrow in Arlington National Cemetery with military honors.

A heart ailment hastened Admiral Wainwright's death. He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. W. S. Turpin, and a son, Lieutenant Commander Richard Wainwright, who is attached to the Navy Department.

Admiral Wainwright was executive officer of the battleship Maine when it was destroyed in Havana harbor in 1898, and in the engagement with Spanish destroyers during the dash of Admiral Cervera's fleet from Santiago, he commanded the gunboat Gloucester. For gallantry in that action he was promoted ten numbers in rank.

Issued Famous Order.—When the Maine sank in Havana harbor, Wainwright was executive officer. It was he who directed the boats lowered to rescue the surviving sailors. While directing the search and recovery of the bodies of those who perished, he issued the order which became famous in the Navy.

"Tell the officer in charge of the guard," said Wainwright, when he learned that the Spanish commander of Havana had ordered his soldiers to lower the Maine's flag, "that if a Spanish soldier touches the flag that flies over that wreck there will be another wreck in Havana harbor. Tell him I will sink his barge myself if he attempts to carry out that order."

The most thrilling adventure in Wainwright's sea-faring career, occurred during the battle of Santiago. The yacht "Corsair," owned by J. Pierpont Morgan, had been purchased by the Government. Though unnamed, it was equipped with guns and a crew and was christened "Gloucester." With Wainwright in command, the steam yacht attacked two of the Spanish torpedo boats simultaneously, blowing one out of the water, and driving the other on the rocks where it was wrecked.

It was Wainwright who received the surrender of Admiral Cervera, and took him on board the "Gloucester" as a prisoner of war.

Wainwright returned from the war a national hero. The citizens of Gloucester, Mass., considering that he had reflected glory on their city, presented him with a loving cup. His friends in Washington gave a sword.

Member of Fighting Family.—Wainwright came of a distinguished fighting family. His father, Commander Richard Wainwright, guided the historic "Havford" under Admiral Farragut in the Civil War, and died aboard his ship off New Orleans.

Born in Washington, D. C., in 1855, Richard Wainwright, II, was appointed to Annapolis at the age of 15 by Abraham Lincoln. He graduated with distinguished honors in 1878 and almost immediately was assigned to duty in the hydrographic office, where he served for many years. His record before the Spanish-American War included service in the Bureau of Navigation, coast surveying on the Asiatic station, at Annapolis, as chief of the intelligence office, and on board the "Tennessee" and the "Galena."

After service in Cuba, he returned to Annapolis where he assumed charge of the academy ships, and later became superintendent. He served on the naval general board. In his historic journey of American battleships around the world in 1898, Wainwright started out in command of the Louisiana. When the fleet returned, he was a Rear Admiral and commanded the second division of the first squadron with the "Georgia" as his flagship.

At the age of 49, Rear Admiral Wainwright became the aid for operations. In this capacity he had charge of all the fleet and ship movements, planned the war games, and was chief naval advisor to the Secretary of the Navy. He held this commission until retired in 1911.

His death leaves his son, Richard Wainwright III, to perpetuate the family name in the United States Navy.

WORTHINGTON 'WILL' STOLEN
Lawyer Report. L. of Document. He says gave him $250,000.

CHICAGO, March 8.—The purported will of John W. Worthington, "the wolf of La Salle street," by which Robert L. Cohan, an attorney, was bequeathed $250,000, which Worthington's daughter, Alice, said was not her father's will, has been stolen, Cohan reported to the police today.

The supposed will, which would be invalid in Illinois because it was not attested by at least two witnesses, purported to leave $100,000 to Alice. It was drawn by Cohan last October, while Worthington lay ill here before being taken to Atlanta penitentiary, where he died a few days ago. He was serving a sentence for a mail fraud conspiracy after escaping jail and prison many times during his wild financial career. Alice, however, not only denied the authenticity of the purported will, but said her father left only about $250,000.

NO MORE PILLS OR PHYSICS FOR HER

Constipated since childhood. Milks Emulsion made new woman of her.

"I had typhoid fever when I was eight years old and have been constipated ever since. I have taken pills, salts, castor oil and everything a person could think of, but they did me no good whatever. I had a sallow complexion, no color, and felt miserable all the time."

"But since taking Milks Emulsion, my troubles have almost disappeared. I have the color of health. I have gained 5 pounds and my arms are getting round. I wouldn't take ten times the price I paid for Milks Emulsion for the results I have obtained."—Rosemond Bower, Frontenac, Kan.

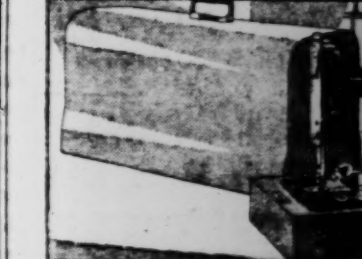

Milks Emulsion restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and physics. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food, thus building flesh and strength, which are Nature's only aids in conquering germs and repairing the effects of wasting diseases.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream. Wonderful for weak, sickly children. No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Milks Emulsion. If not satisfied with results, your money will be promptly refunded. ### $500,000,000 IN 30-YEAR FEDERAL BONDS OFFERED

First Long-Term Securities Issued in Year to Bear 3 3/4 Per Cent.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 8.—To aid in meeting obligations this month the Treasury is offering for public subscription $500,000,000 in 30-year bonds. They will bear 3 3/4 per cent interest, the lowest rate since the first Liberty Bonds were issued.

The bonds are to provide funds for the retirement on March 15 of approximately $750,000,000 in outstanding Government bonds, and, with other money on hand and the March tax receipts, to carry the Treasury over until June, when additional financing will be necessary.

With the exception of inheritance taxes and Federal income surtaxes, the new bonds are exempt, both as to principal and interest, from other Federal, State and local taxation. Compulsing the first long-term securities issued by the Treasury in a year, the bonds will bear interest from March 15, maturing on that date in 1956 and redeemable after March 15, 1946. They will be offered at 100 1/2 and the Treasury will accept as part payment, but without giving preference, the Treasury notes series A, 1926, totaling $615,000,000, which mature on March 15.

WHY CANADA BARRED MAGAZINE

Liberty Classified as Seditious; New York Mirror as Immoral.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
TORONTO, Ont., March 8.—Canada's order barring the New York Mirror and Liberty Magazine is enforced under the terms of what Canadian customs officials call "tariff schedule C." It prohibits the importation of books, papers or publications of "immoral or seditious" nature.

According to the nature of the brief discussions upon the subjects in the Canadian Parliament, the Mirror was barred under the first allegation, that it was "immoral," and Liberty under the second, that its articles on the lives of members of the British royal family were "seditious." The Customs Department's interpretation of "immoral" may mean "offensive to common propriety." "Contrary to what is fit and proper, unbecoming or merely immodest," and in the application of "seditious" it may mean only "offensive" to Canadian ideas.

Shakespearean Fetes Not Delayed.

Bruises and strain quickly helped by simple treatment

A simple home treatment, used at once, will greatly hasten recovery from bruises, strains, and sprains.

Hundreds of people from all over the country have taken the trouble to write of the truly remarkable results they have got from using Dr. Sloan's Liniment.

"I suffered from a bruise," writes Bushnell's Basin, Monroe County, N. Y., "that while she was picking cherries, a branch of the tree on which she was standing, broke and gave her a bad fall."

"I suffered again," she says, "but I used Sloan's Liniment, and it relieved my pain right away. Now I don't feel it at all."

Sloan's gets results because it doesn't just deaden pain; it gets at the cause.

Right to the place that hurts it brings a healing stream of fresh blood.

Warns Middle-Aged Women To Check
High Blood Pressure

Thousands of women at the changing time of life are in danger of high blood pressure. It is caused by poisonous waste matter accumulating in the system or the weakening of one or more organs. This forces the heart to do more work
and raises the blood pressure.

The symptoms are dizziness, shortness of breath, head pains, flushed face, nervousness or sleeplessness.
High blood pressure must be treated and stopped for everyone knows it brings on Bright's disease, apoplexy
and other sudden death. It is too dangerous and quick acting to go without heeding its symptoms.

Norma is a doctor's prescription for high blood pressure that has been used with great success.
Being a purely vegetable medicine it contains no habit-forming drugs. It harmonizes and works in such a way that it drives out waste matter, lessens the duty of the overworked heart and reduces blood pressure safely and easily. Often one bottle brings great relief. Get a bottle of Norma today and free yourself of life threatening high blood pressure. For sale by Walgreen Drug Co.

BLOCKS JAIL DELIVERY AT THE HOLDOVER

Turnkey Discovers Opening of Cell Door by Youth—50 Prisoners in Place.

An attempted delivery of 50 men and women prisoners at Central District holdover early today was frustrated by an alert turnkey after one cell door had been forced open.

A bedlam of shouting and singing at 1 a. m. made the turnkey, Charles Daniels, suspect that something was being done under cover of the noise, so he investigated and turned a corner in time to see a prisoner, Douglas Chappell, 14, hastily retreat into his cell,
the door of which was open.
Reserves were summoned and order restored. It was then learned that Chappell had used a metal shoe horn and drinking cup
to obtain his temporary freedom.
The shoe horn, sharpened on the concrete floor, was employed to cut the handle and bottom from the tin cup. The rest of the cup was then stamped under foot in the shape of a jimmy, and with this tool the cell lock was picked open.
Sharing the cell with Chappell were William Dufur, whom he implicated last week in the theft of 10 automobiles, and three other men, one a narcotic addict. When discovered Chappell had just stepped into the aisle to pass the tool along to Tony Russo and six other prisoners in the adjoining cell. He planned, he said, to open all the doors and lead a dash for liberty.

Chappell, a convicted robber,
was paroled from Booneville Reformatory last November.
Benjamin Giannanco, one of the prisoners, was taken to City Hospital with a scalp laceration. Police reported he became unruly and slipped and fell against the cell door.

OF POSING AS DEFENDANT

Michael Walsh Accused of Apper-ing in Behalf of Another—Bondsmen To Be Tried.

Michael Walsh of 2907 Cass avenue, who, fit is charged, substituted for a defendant whose $1000
bond had been forfeited in Circuit Court, and who failed to appear when his trial was called last Monday, was produced by his bondsmen
today and went to trial before Circuit Judge Landwehr.

The State forthwith introduced
two bonds—one signed Aug. 19
last, by Walsh, who he appeared and represented himself as Martin Brennan, accused of carrying concealed weapons, and which Walsh admitted he signed as Brennan, and his own bond, signed by his true name releasing him from city jail, where he had been confined since last August. This was dated Feb. 17, last. No explanation was made as to why he failed to appear last Monday.

Walsh, it will be recalled, appeared last August in court with Michael Cutter, a professional bondsmen. Assuming to be the defendant, Brennan, Walsh was prepared to plead guilty and accept the customary $100 fine for carrying a weapon. Assistant Circuit Attorney Bowcock, however, insisting the defendant should go to the workhouse for a year. It was then the substitution was discovered and Walsh was arrested and taken to headquarters, where he confessed. Following the disposition of Walsh's case, Cutter will go to trial on a similar charge.

MacReady in New Test Tomorrow.

By the Associated Press.
DAYTON, O., March 8.—His second attempt within the year to beat a world's altitude record will be made tomorrow by Lieut. John
A. MacReady, McCook Field altitude flyer. MacReady announced today that the airplane, known as the XCO-5, which has been undergoing alterations at the field, would be completed late today and with fair weather Tuesday he would take off from McCook Field about 9 o'clock. He will try to rise above
40,000 feet. The present record,

Assaults Press for Gambling Crime.

trict Attorney, today attacked

sponsible for much of the crime
that rises from gambling environment. Speaking before the Baptist Ministers' Conference of New York and vicinity, Pecora said the newspapers aided and abetted gambling through the large amount of space given to race track happenings and through special columns of "tips" on horses.

Pleas That They Were Hurrying

Sick Person Rejected.
Christ Westphalinger of 3333

2201A Park avenue, drivers of automobiles which speeded at 35
miles an hour on Jefferson avenue between Geyer and Park avenues, Feb. 28, maintained today that they were hurrying to get medicine and a clergyman for Stohue's mother-in-law, who was critically ill.
Police Judge Rosecan refused to accept the explanation, and fined them each $25. "It could have

ACID IN STOMACH
SOURS THE FOOD

Says Excess of Hydrochloric Acid Is Cause of Indigestion.

A well-known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion are nearly always due to acidity—acid stomach—and not, as most folks believe, from a lack of digestive juices.
He states that the excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and starts food fermentation; then our meals sour like garbage in a can, forming acid fluids
and gases, which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. We then get that heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest,
we eructate sour food, belch gas or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts
and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, while it is effervescent, and, furthermore, to continue this for one week. While relief often follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass,
start the liver, stimulate the kidneys
and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of stomach sufferers with excellent results.

INQUIRY IN APARTMENT FIRE

Incendiarism Suspected at St.
Regis, 4944 Lindell.
A fire in a locker in the basement of the St. Regis Apartments, 4944 Lindell boulevard, at 7:50 p.
m., yesterday, and which was extinguished with small loss, was investigated to determine if it was incendiarism.

James Turner, a Negro watchman, told police that about the time the flames were discovered
he found a man hiding in the basement. He said he chased the man into the alley and fired four shots at him, but the man escaped.

Turks declare that this is not so, that foreign capital and enterprise are as welcome as ever, but they say the Occident does not understand them. That is quite comprehensible when one surveys the projects that have already become laws or are being discussed by the grand national assembly at Ankara for the modernization of Turkey. Here is a country about twice the area of France with one-fourth the population, in a state of very primitive agriculture, having no factories, machine shops or organized manufacture, absolutely no professional class—except soldiers—almost no doctors, lawyers, major or minor executives, and what is infinitely more important, no foreman class, apparently doing its best to shut itself off from the world which might bring those things to it.

Alien Doctors Barred.
 Foreign doctors and lawyers, for example, are forbidden to practice in Turkey. This is not so very important, with the law as the judge will probably know as little as will the lawyer—or the defendant. But the public health will be a heavy loser, for the Turks have always been dependent upon foreigners for medical advice and assistance and notoriously inefficient in carrying out instructions. They have no competent medical schools. Because of this law the American hospital at Constantinople has been without an American doctor for two years. And the American Constantinople Women's College, which had opened a medical department, with a training school for nurses and hospital, has been forced to abandon the effort. It is forbidden to a Turkish subject, irrespective of whether he be of Greek, Italian or other nationality, to talk any other language than Turkish in hotels, streets or restaurants. By the Associated Press.
 PARIS, March 8.—Americans in France have become quite used to and usually accept as a matter of course, little digs at Uncle Sam's role as "hard-hearted creditor," in the cabarets and music halls and even from such casual acquaintances as taxicab drivers and fellow passengers in buses and trams. But once in a while there has been too much vindictiveness. United States Ambassador Herrick was forced a few days ago to call to the attention of the authorities a number of "impolite" songs in the music halls. The offending ditties were withdrawn. There is some humor in the fact that one of the songs, regarded as the most objectionable, was being sung in a music hall that appeals almost entirely to American and other foreign patrons. The Americans and audience applauded the comedian lustily, not understanding the words in Parisian slang.

"Turkey for Turks" Laws Likely to Drive Foreign Capital Out of Country

Alien Doctors and Lawyers Barred — Books Must Be Kept and Accounts Rendered in Native Language.

Special Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch
and the Chicago Daily News.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 1.—
It is claimed by competent observers here that the Turk intends to drive every foreigner out of the country inside of 10 years. Turks declare that this is not so, that foreign capital and enterprise are as welcome as ever, but they say the Occident does not understand them.

That is quite comprehensible
when one surveys the projects that have already become laws or are being discussed by the grand national assembly at Ankara for the modernization of Turkey. If this legislation is meant to be progress,
then no wonder the Occident does not understand it.

Here is a country about twice the area of France with one-fourth the population, in a state of very primitive agriculture, having no factories, machine shops, organized manufacture, absolutely no professional class—except soldiers—almost no doctors, lawyers, major or minor executives, and what is infinitely more important, no foreman class, apparently doing its best to shut itself off from the world which might bring these things to it.

Alien Doctors Barred.
Foreign doctors and lawyers, for example, are forbidden to practice in Turkey. This is not so very important, with the law as the judge
will probably keep a close watch
"but the lawyer—or the defendant,
will the public health will be a heavy loser, for the Turks have always been dependent upon foreigners for medical advice and assistance and notoriously inefficient in carrying out instructions. They have no competent medical schools.
Because of this law the American hospital at Constantinople has been without an American doctor for two years. And the American Constantinople Women's College, which had opened a medical department, with a training school for nurses and hospital, has been forced to abandon the effort.

It is forbidden to a Turkish subject, irrespective of whether he be of Greek, Italian or other nationality, to talk any other language than Turkish in hotels, streets or restaurants. No one but a Turk may be a pilot in the port of Constantinople or follow any other national profession of the port. Christians and foreign subjects, be they former Turkish subjects or not,
may not be taxi drivers or hanish (heavy duty porters), and all foreign firms must employ a fixed percentage of Turks, who must be Mohammedans, and who must be paid salaries "equal to those paid by other firms of Turkish nationality."

Foreign Servants Must Go.
The threat has been issued that all Greek, Italian and other for-ign servants in the hotels in Pera must go. They will be replaced by Turks. Already is being enforced

the law that requires bills be presented in Turkish.
Foreign banks and all shops are compelled to keep open on Sunday,
with full staffs, although there is little or no business to do. They are equally compelled to keep closed on Friday, the Mohammedan sabbath. There must be a set of account books in Turkish. There is severe punishment for any in-fracture of these rules, and certain banks that tried to close shop at noon Sundays were threatened with being forced to close altogether.

The new Turkey which boasted at the economic congress in Smyrna that "the Turk loves to work freely and does not want any monopoly in business" is putting through monopolies on petroleum,
sugar, matches, coastal shipping,
lead and its manufacture such as bullets, and the manufacture of weights and measures and, possibly, agricultural implements.

The coal and water in Constantinople port, lighterage, transshipment of all port cargo, have been made into a monopoly and transferred to one company.

Landlord Not Responsible.
In Constantinople's most luxurious flat building is a sign which reads:

"If sometimes there is no water,
heat, light, gas or fuel, we can accept no responsibility."
The municipality of Constantinople had assigned the Galata bridge "tolls" and the receipts from the Pasha-Baghtche petroleum tax to the repayment of the interest and principal of the 1907
5 per cent loan made to the city
by foreign investors; payments to be unalienable and irrevocable and to be effected through the National Bank of Turkey. Nevertheless, after a few years of paying slightly less than half the annual sums due to the bondholders the municipality is cancelling the bridge tolls without consulting the bondholders and is putting forth the idea of a tax on tram and ferry fares as a recompense.

These are some of the annoyances, major and minor, that confront foreigners in Turkey. These are some of the things the Occident does not understand. But they are nothing compared to two laws under discussion. These would give the Turkish Government virtual control of the management of every foreign business in Turkey.
These laws may be the honest effort of the Turk to protect his country. For so long has he been exploited by the foreigner that he probably feels it is his turn to exploit the foreigner. But it seems likely that in the face of such legislation, passed and proposed,
the foreign capitalist will stand on the sidelines and about the loudest in the present-day Turkish chorus: "Turkey for the Turks!"

SONGS OFFENSIVE TO U. S. IN PARIS PROVOKE PROTEST

Ambassador Calls Halt; Americans
Not Understanding, Were Applauding Comedian's Shuts.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, March 8.—Americans in France have become quite used to and usually accept as a matter of course, little digs at Uncle Sam's role as "hard-hearted creditor," in the cabarets and music halls and even from such casual acquaintances as taxi-cab drivers and fellow passengers in buses and trains.

But once in a while there has been too much vindictiveness. United States Ambassador Herriek was forced a few days ago to call to the attention of the authorities a number of "impolite" songs in the music halls. The offending ditties
were withdrawn.

There is some humor in the fact that one of the songs, regarded as the most objectionable, was being sung in a music hall that appeals almost entirely to American and other foreign patrons. The Americans and audience applauded the comedian lustily, not understanding the words in Parisian slang.

Kimzey Quits Illinois Race.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
DUQUOIN, Ill., March 8.—Walter R. Kimzey, president of the First National Bank of Mount Carmel, has announced his withdrawal from the race for the Republican nomination for State treasurer. Kimzey asks that his friends and supporters line up behind William J. Stratton of Lake County, who has the backing of Gov. Small and the State administration.

Luther Burbank, 77 Years Old.
SANTA ROSA, Cal., March 8.—
While congratulatory telegrams were pouring in from all parts of the nation, virtually the whole city of Santa Rosa turned out yesterday to honor Luther Burbank, and help him celebrate his seventy-seventh birthday.

THERMO-MAGNETIC GENERATOR OF ELECTRICITY IS INVENTED

Device of German Engineer Will Replace Steam-Driven Turbines.
It Is Thought.

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, March 8.—Seeking to eliminate the tremendous consumption of coal in electric power plants,
Dr. Walter Paul, electrical engineer, has devised a thermo-magnetic electric generator which, he believes, will supplant steam-driven turbines for generating electric current.

Dr. Paul is said to have demonstrated his apparatus with success
before the German Electro-Technical Society. It is based on the fact that the induced magnetism
of soft iron decreases and increases
as the temperature of the iron falls and rises. The device consists of a heavy soft iron ring magnetized by an electrical current. In the center of the ring is hung an induction coil. As the ring is heated either by a gas or coal fire and then allowed to cool, an alternating current is induced in the wiring.

One model which Paul has constructed is large enough to supply
a farm with electric light and power. The heating is regulated automatically.

PRINCE HIGH IN RED COUNCIL

Valerian Obolensky Changes His Name to Oskinsky.

By the Associated Press.
MOSCOW, March 8.—Of the few members of the old nobility who have joined the Bolsheviks, the most notable perhaps is Prince Valerian Obolensky whose family
dates back to a flying visit to Palestine yesterday. He disembarked at Haifa, where he was welcomed on behalf of the Zionist
executive and the Jewish community. After visiting the Hebrew Technical Institute he proceeded to Nazareth. He rejoined the Maure-tania last evening.

WOMEN WORKERS IN RUSSIA GET OFFICIAL RECOGNITION

Decorated as "Heroes of Labor," After 35 Years' Toil; House-workers Excepted.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch
and the Chicago Daily News.
Copyright, 1926.
MOSCOW, March 8.—Women who have worked in Russia for 35 years, except housewives, were decorated today with the title of
"Hero of Labor" in connection with the celebration of international working women's day.

Though under this year's new roster the day ceases to be a national holiday, the women, receiving merely two hours of duty, all were notified to assemble at their union halls and listen to the reading of proclamations by Kallin
and Stalin, extolling the nobility of their toil and exhorting them to more active participation in the work of the country and the communist party.

Among those singled for special honors were Titiana Kostishina and Klavdia Tskovlonia, attractive graduates of the Odessa Nautical College. The former receives a captain's commission and the latter that of chief engineer, being the first girl officers of the soviet ships.

Thirty women graduates of motor schools received licenses to operate farm tractors.
Clara Zetkin, an aged communist who now is in Moscow attending the session of the third international, presiding, inaugurated women's day seven years ago for the purpose of opposing bourgeois exploitation of family oppression
and religious mystification.

Statistics show that women compose 21 per cent of the membership of all soviet and one-fourth of the membership of the communist party. The supreme council of trade unionists inaugurated a new decoration "Hero of Labor"—in addition to proposing various tax exemptions.

ADVERSE REPORT ON LEAGUE ARMS PARLEY IS FORECAST

Ambassador Houghton and Minis-

Said to Be Possessing Adverse Report on League of Nations.

Copyright, 1926, by the Press and Publishing Co., New York World and Sun Building.

LONDON, March 8.—Ambassador Houghton and Minister Gibson, American envoys to Great Britain and Washington, on their arrival in Washington, are expected to make pessimistic reports on the proposed disarmament conference of the League of Nations. Whether this conference will be held in May or earlier, as has been proposed, is not yet known. It is more doubtful. The American diplomats have knowledge of many details of European intrigues against disarmament which will not please Washington.

In diplomatic quarters here it is expected that Houghton will urge on President Coolidge the advisability of producing a few practical American suggestions as to the form
which the preliminary conference should take in order to counteract the elaborate French agenda which,
it is felt, has been drawn up merely to influence Great Britain and the United States to reject them
and so wreck the conference in advance.

"LITTLE BOY BLUE" POEM READ AT AUTHOR'S SERVICES

Body of Eugene Field Placed in an Especially Built Tomb in Chicago Episcopal Church.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, March 8.—With the last stanza of his famous poem,
"Little Boy Blue," sounding as his requiem, the body of Eugene Field,
the children's poet, was placed in an especially built tomb of the Episcopal Church of the Holy Comforter, Kenilworth, yesterday.

Judge Jesse Holdom, of the Cook County Superior Court, a personal friend of Field for many years, delivered the eulogy and at its close he recited the immortal "Little Boy Blue," concluding:

"Ay, faithful to Little Boy Blue
they stand,
Each in the same old place
Awaiting the touch of a little hand
And the smile of a little face,
And they wonder, as waiting these long years through,
In the dust of that little chair,
What has become of our Little Boy
Blue."

Since he kissed them and put them there."

HISTORIC TEMPLES - BURNED

TOKIO, March 8.—A sacrifice to the annual fire season which comes each year with the advent of the dry months in Japan was the loss of the historical Kwannon temples which burned so swiftly that keepers could not rescue even the standing statue of the Goddess Kwannon. The main Kwannon temple was more than 100 years old.

Five blocks of houses were destroyed in another fire which ushered in the high fire hazard period.

"THE INTIMATE PAPERS OF COL. HOUSE" New Threat by Berlin; Col. House Urges Wilson to Bid for Progressive Votes

German Memorandum on "Freedom of Action" — Roosevelt Boom Fizzes
and G. O. P. Nominates Hughes — New Democratic Campaign Lineup.

IN yesterday's installment Col.
House discussed President Wilson's speech of May 25, 1915, and the confusion it caused in England.
Britain blacklisted eighty American firms, an action that disturbed Wilson very much and inclined him to drastic action. A German submarine entered Newport Harbor and sank some ships. Anti-American feeling ran high in England.

My Dear Colonel:
Today Hindenburg is named chief of the general staff, and his chief of staff, Ludendorff, is made Quartiermeister-General. Falkenberg, former chief of staff, is bounced without even the status of a diplomatic illness. This is all a great concession to popular opinion.

I do not know where Hindenburg stands with reference to America,
but he has heard that he is a reasonable man. Of course, here the army has as much to say in foreign affairs as the Foreign Office, if not more.

When I was at the general headquarters Falkenberg, although I knew him, did not call on me and judged me not even appearing at the Kaiser's table when I lunched
there. From all this I judge he was against America on the submarine question. I have also heard that at this time, when Falkenberg was talking before the Kaiser in favor of peace, he interrupted him, but was told by the Kaiser to "stick to his last," or words to that effect.

These people here are now nervous and uneasy and actually believe that America will now enter the war and that the Kaiser's conception of the general break-down
of nerves among this people.

Bernstorff seeks Parley.
Sept. 3, 1916: Count von Bernstorff telephoned last night, asking
if I might come to see me today.
I told him I would be glad to see him, and he said he would come.

"We had an interesting two hours
together. . . .
In talking to Bernstorff about the recent appointment of Field
Houghton as ambassador to Berlin,
and in view of our continuous confidential relations I gladly leave it entirely to you whether you will give Mr. Gerard the memorandum or speak to him about it. . . .
Should you wish to speak to me about this matter or any other, I am, as you know, always at your disposal and prepared to go to New York at any time.
With many thanks in advance,
very truly yours,
J. BERNSTORFF.

Threat of Germany
on "Freedom of Action."
(Inclosure.)

Your Excellency: Ambassador Gerard hinted to his majority in your last conversation
at Chaixville in April that President Wilson possibly would try toward the end of the summer to offer his good services to the bel-lievers in advancing Roosevelt for Republican nominee. . . .
In the early spring of 1916
House felt that, whatever their prejudices, the Republicans would seize upon the one big figure capable of attracting the Western vote. "It looks like Roosevelt for Republican nominee," he wrote Gerard on March 24, "though Hughes may be." But on May 11
he wrote to Penfield: "The Roosevelt tide has receded and that of Hughes is advancing. Roosevelt has overplayed his hand and the reaction has set in. He may be nominated, but it does not look like him today."

Col. House Advises Progressive Drive.
Col. House to the President:
Sunapee, N. H., June 10, 1916.
Dear Governor:
The news of the nominations at Chicago has just reached me.
Now that Hughes is
the candidate, it is all the more necessary for us to gather in the Progressive vote. I think we can show Hughes up as a thorough conservative who obtained the nomination of progressive because of his refusal to let the bosses dictate to him. His vote of the income tax and the support which the Germans have and will give him will I think, insure his defeat. Affectionately yours, E. M. HOUSE.

If the Progressive vote was to be won, the Democrats must secure a campaign manager with markedly liberal tendencies and willing to accept the bold plan which was being mapped out.

Letter to McCombs
a Ticklish Task.

New York, April 21, 1916.
Dear Governor:
After wrestling with McCombs
two days Baruch got the letter from him. Here is a copy of it.
Baruch is holding the original,
expecting me to go to Washington and take it in person. We both reclinch the matter by accepting his

VANCE C. MCCORMICK

Col. House wrote to President Wilson:
"Frank Polk, Dudley (Field) Malone, Woolley, Newton Baker, Morgenthau and others think he (Vance McCormick) is the man you want for (National Democratic) chairman. . . . I believe
he is the man you want."

ments during the first year of the administration now regarded the problems of administrative politics
as so many vexatious trivialities.
"The President," he wrote on March 29, 1916, "appeared almost more interested and absorbed in these local situations than in the foreign crisis. I myself am so little interested in them that I talk of them with reluctance, and it is immaterial to me whom he appoints. Ordinarily, I should insist that he should not appoint one of X's henchmen, but it seems so insignificant compared with the vital questions now on the boards that I find myself not caring what he does, so he drops it from our discussions."

But in 1916 domestic problems
could not be dropped from discussion, since in the autumn would come the presidential election.
That Wilson would be renominated was a foregone conclusion.
House realized that the President's re-election was a matter of extreme doubt.

In the early spring of 1916
House felt that, whatever their

Wilson responded with a letter which is an excellent example of the grace and charm which he could, when necessity demanded,
inject into a delicate operation. "I hope that what I have written," he said rather timidly to House,
"will seem the right thing."

Text of Wilson's
Note to McCombs.
The President to William F. Mc-Combs:
Washington, April 22, 1916.
Mr. Dear McCombs:
I have your letter appealing me
of your inability to retain the chairmanship of the Democratic National Committee for the approaching campaign.

I fully appreciate the necessity
you feel yourself to be under to resign after the convention shall have been held in June; I know you would not have reached such a decision had not your new business obligations made it unavoidable. I do not feel at liberty therefore, to urge you to make the sacrifice that a retention of the chairmanship would in the circumstances involve.

You have made many and great sacrifices already for the party,
and I know I am speaking the sentiment of all loyal Democrats when I express the very deep appreciation I have felt of the great services you have ungrudgingly rendered.

I am sure that the greatest regrets will be felt at your retirement and that a host of friends will join me in the hope that your new business connections will bring you continued abundant success.

With best wishes, sincerely yours,
WOODROW WILSON.

"The President and I lunched
alone," House recorded on May 3,
"and I took up with him several of the names of men Polk and I thought might do for national chairman. None of them aged him. I told him it would inconvenience Lansing too much to lose Polk. He thought the contrary.
Lansing's convenience was not so important as it was to have a proper man for national chairman.
He declared he did not desire to be President any longer, and it would be a delightful relief if he could conscientiously retire. He said he felt it his duty toward his country and his party to continue.
He believes a second term may be an anti-climax."

"We definitely decided on Gov. Glynn for temporary chairman of the St. Louis Convention and I will aid him in preparing the keynote speech," said Col. House.

Such, it is understood, has been the outcome of conversations between M. Herriot, president of the left cluster in the Chamber, and President Doumergue.

It is being pointed out in political circles that it was Briand's finance minister, rather than Briand, who was defeated. At the Chamber, the premier falling with him because he declined to abandon his colleague. In any case, all political circles agree that Briand must retain the portfolio of Foreign Minister. His departure from the helm of France's foreign policy is generally admitted, would diminish France's weight in international councils and notably make her delegate's position at the League Council meeting in Geneva difficult.

PARIS, March 8.—The fall of the Briand Government brought upon France a crisis which has dangers no one attempts to hide. At a moment when France needed settlement of finances, Premier Briand fell over the question of whether a few stamps should be put on every bill of sale.

The fertility and absurdity of throwing the country into this position, risking the troubles that come from speculation and inflation are apparent to everyone and responsible party leaders are determined there must be quick solution.
President Doumergue, ordinarily deprived of any power beyond acquiescence in what the Premier has decided upon, has become the central figure, and upon his choice of men to attempt to form a new Government may hinge the country's fate.

THE MILLER-WALL CONTROVERSY.

No Compromise With Wrong.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THE proposal of the Chamber of Commerce to mediate the Miller-Wall row is a sickening exhibition of moral insensibility. Has the habit of expediency so swamped the leaders of the Chamber that they have lost all sense of right and wrong? No mediation with wrong is possible unless the mediation itself partakes of the wrong.

Every man who is honest with himself knows that the Miller program is a rank piece of spoils politics as has ever been attempted in St. Louis. Miller himself knows it is both rank and raw, and, for that reason, has himself tried to compromise with Wall and has received his answer. I shall be deeply disappointed if Mr. Wall of the Chamber of Commerce does not receive the same answer. I should be gratified if it would receive no hearing at all.

There is no place for compromise. It is up to St. Louis either to accept or reject Miller's political morals.

RICHARD C. BLAND.

Our Schoolboy Mayor.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THE tactics which Mayor Miller is pursuing in his controversy with Director Wall would seem to indicate that he has not progressed far beyond the grammar school boy who said, "If I can't get it all the time I'll take my ball and go home." For a man in his position to say that unless Mr. Wall quit he would only prove conclusively that St. Louis is a city of fools is a disgrace. Mayor Miller should realize that he is a disgrace to his honor who also advocates the boycott against the Wahash unless they withdraw their Supreme Court appeal? Certainly, we would have been justified, but is it good policy to fight in the "stupid" policy class?

Mayor Miller should realize that he is a disgrace to his honor who also advocates the boycott against the Wahash unless they withdraw their Supreme Court appeal? Certainly, we would have been justified, but is it good policy to fight in the "stupid" policy class?

If the women of St. Louis elected Miller as has been stated, it seems that their proverbial intuition must have made its exit with long tresses.

Miller Vs. Wall.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

WHY do the taxpayers have to stand for an inefficient man to be put in a position that he can not handle when they have a man that knows his business just so Mr. Miller can put one of his friends on the job? What is the Efficiency Board for? Is it there to put the right man on the job or is it just there for a blind to stop men from getting the jobs which they can handle just because they did not vote the right ticket. If we had some more men like Mr. Wall and Mr. Nolle in office this would be a better administration for all concerned.

Give Him Enough Rope!

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

OUR good Mayor should step to the mirror and have a heart-to-heart talk with Victor Miller. Many of us live in glass houses.

Give the man a chance! he may have what he thinks he has, the great tongue of a Lincoln, the vigor of a Roosevelt, the fighting blood of a Napoleon, the wit of a Twain and the cunning of a Gerald Chapman. Give the man a chance. He will do us good as long as he is in the Wall makeup he can get out of the way the easier it will be for the great Mayor to do us good.

SHIP WITHOUT A RUDDER.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Retain Mr. Wall or Face Recall.
A WOMAN who voted for Victor Miller, wish to add my voice to that of "A Citizen and Taxpayer." The Mayor carries out his conscientious intention of forcing Mr. Wall out of office, then, people of St. Louis, who have the welfare of our city at heart, make yourselves heard! Recall the man who is a personal spite, who deprives us of the services of a man who is considered honest, trustworthy and of great ability, and who has already given us the best he has to give, and to whom the $29,000,000 bond issue money for his waterworks (for it is his waterworks) was entrusted. When, after having assured Mr. Wall there would be no interference in his affairs, the Mayor demands that an able, efficient man be dismissed to make place for a political henchman who has already been discharged for incompetency, what are voters to think of it?

Call a mass meeting. Citizens of St. Louis, and let Victor Miller know that we appreciate his honesty, devoted service and ability, and that we will stand behind the man whom we have honored with our trust for so many years like a Wall, which, verily, he is!

A WOMAN VOTER.

SAYING "GEE" TO A DEAD HORSE.

As a friend to public ownership Senator R. B. Howell opposes acquisition of the Cape Cod Canal by the Federal Government. In his interview in Sunday's Post-Dispatch he indicated quite clearly that though money may make the mare go, there is no adequate reason for use of the people's money in an effort to drive such a "dead horse" investment as this waterway.

Out of his own experience in Nebraska Mr. Howell has come to regard certain movements for public ownership with a calculating eye. His conclusion that financial interests are eager to turn over large ventures to Federal operation, while at the same time they oppose public management of profitable projects, such as that at Muscle Shoals, is unquestionably accurate. The foisting of a money-losing railroad line in Alaska upon the public was at the behest of the same group that professes horror at the idea of Federal operation of railroads south of the foggy-ninth parallel.

In the days before he went to the Senate Mr. Howell managed the municipal utilities at Omaha. He made such a success with the water system there that enthusiasts for public ownership aided by other interests, some wishing to see him fall and others wishing to dispose of their stock at a profit, saddled up a dead horse in the shape of an obsolete gas plant and turned it over to him to ride. His protests having been overruled, Mr. Howell in a few years had brought the nag into such prancing condition that critics complained it was getting too much oats in the shape of profits.

Engineers say there is no possibility of the Cape Cod Canal paying interest on the $11,000,000 which is asked from the public treasury. They declare also that the profits possible to the people from the operation of hydroelectric works at Muscle Shoals are immense.

All of which explains why certain interests propose the turning over of Muscle Shoals to private interests and the sale of the canal to the Government. But what remains to be elucidated is why President Coolidge should give his backing to this program.

NOBILITY OR ROYALTY.

That Wood-Kratky conversation in which $5000 was or was not mentioned.

Mr. Kratky's recollection of it is that they talked about the British nobility.

Mr. Wood's recollection of it is that they talked about American royalty.

BLUE-SKY INSURANCE.

Federal Judge Faris rendered a decision Saturday which ought to put a crimp in the miserable business of blue-sky insurance.

The case was this:

Fred R. Aichner, who carried an accident insurance policy in the Commonwealth Casualty Co. of Philadelphia was drowned in the Merac in August, 1924. Aichner supposed that, in the event of accidental death, his widow would get $5000. The policy was so worded as to give that impression. The company contested the claim. It held that its liability, in the circumstances, was $100. It stood upon the letter of the policy.

Judge Faris swept the company's pleadings aside. He pronounced the policy as "ambiguous" and "calculated to deceive," and proved the bad faith of the company in a scathing analysis. He awarded Mrs. Aichner a judgment for $5000, with interest and costs. He declared further that "a policy of this sort should not, by the consent of the courts, be allowed to run at large in the commercial world."

The Government at Jefferson City ought to take cognizance of that last point. It is quite as important to protect people against worthless insurance as it is to protect them against worthless stock. Of the two frauds, the fake insurance policy seems to be the more contemptible. Judge Faris' decision upholds justice, smashes technicality and should inspire our Insurance Commissioner to drive wild-cat policies out of Missouri.

MR. JUSTICE HOLMES.

Today Oliver Wendell Holmes is 55 years old. There is nothing we can say which will add to his fame wherever the law is studied. In every high court and in every law school throughout the world he is known and studied and revered as one of the few greatest minds who have dealt with the law in the course of the last century.

The fame of Holmes is of an altogether different quality from that of the celebrities about whom we usually read and write. It is the kind of fame that only a few men in any age acquire; it is the fame of those minds of the first order who affect the character of thought itself.

The depth of such an influence is not to be measured by this decision or that. Mr. Justice Holmes has been for 24 years on the Supreme Court of the United States and he has written many notable decisions and many equally notable dissents. He was before that Chief Justice of the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts. Before that he was a lawyer and a teacher of law and the author, back in 1851, of the great book on the common law. And before that he was a soldier in a Massachusetts regiment and was wounded in the breast at Ball's Bluff, in the neck at Antietam and in the foot at Fredericksburg. Judged by ordinary standards he stands today at the summit of a great career. But the record of his honors and his achievements does not tell the best and main part of his story. The quality which gives him greatness of the truest sort, and not mere celebrity and reputation, is that he is a true legal thinker with a skeptical realism that may revolutionize men.

The true disciples of Holmes are the first-rate men now in law school or just recently graduated. Between him and them there is a sympathy of spirit and a community of method which the pedants and legalists do not understand and took upon with some apprehension. There are none of the ordinary marks of rebellion about this revolutionary influence. On the contrary, the example of Holmes has been profoundly civilizing, not only, as he once said, in teaching lawyers that "to have doubted one's own first principles is the mark of a civilized man," but in the elegance and purity of all his utterances. Holmes is not only original in the substance of his thought, he is a thinker who has made thinking, even about law, beautiful.

Ten years ago it was written of him that "he is a sage with the bearing of a cavalier." He wears wisdom like a gorgeous plume. Those who have seen him recently will testify that these words are still true.

BRIAND FALLS AGAIN.

For the fourth, fifth or sixth time—we have lost count—Aristide Briand has thrown up the job of French Prime Minister. Poor Briand! He of the long mane, the flashing eyes and the most brilliant oratorical gift since Gambetta was but meat for the dominant Socialists to devour at their leisure. He was practically conscripted into office last November. He knew he was to be thrown to the lions as a living sacrifice. His instructions were to defer the inevitable as long as possible with the magic of his tongue.

Briand is talented, but not great. He is brave, but not a conqueror. He spellbinds his hearers with cascades of eloquence, but when the curtain is lowered and the footlights are dimmed, Briand's show is over. Since November he has given many dashing performances, but he has not spoken the word of authority for which France is waiting. The result: France's internal affairs are much the same as they were when Briand took charge.

In foreign affairs, the old campaigner managed to add one lustrous gem to his crown. At Locarno, Briand was at his best. There, relieved for the moment of the parliamentary mill, he brought all the passion, energy and vision of his nature to the consummation of the treaties by which the great Powers of Europe pledged themselves to peace. That for Briand was a warm and sunny interlude in an otherwise dismal period.

Briand may be worth half a dozen Herriots and Painlevés, but he was not big enough to pull the French out of the political morass in which they are now mired. Who, for that matter, is big enough? But in tackling an impossible job, Briand showed his fine sense of patriotism. The French bands may well toll him a stave. He is that country's volunteer fireman, his political Cincinnati. Briand's old pals, the Socialists, might yet regret that they did not make it easier for him. A ruthless iron hand may appear to take the starch out of them. And for that matter, the fire-eating Old Man himself, though he has buried himself in the Vendée, has a jolt or two left in his hood right arm.

THE WHITE SAHIB LOSES FACE.

A white rod is tottering in the East. Once he wore a pith helmet and snowy liners and an air of supreme, sanctimonious authority. Kipling chanted his praises. But, as a writer in the New Republic points out, this One who was addressed with reverential awe has been exposed. He had taught the natives to call him Sahib, to accept his word as unassailable truth, his judgment as fate itself. The Sahib never told a lie, he possessed all the virtues of the Brahmin and Mohammed, with a peculiar set of virtues called Christian in addition. Though the Sahibs were few they could rule many because they instinctively chose the right, though how this was done no Hindi professed to know, and dared not ask the Sahibs.

But all that is over now. In the cinema palaces of Calcutta, Bombay and Darjeeling the white Sahibs dance in all his realistic disrepute. On those magic screens the white Sahib cuts a sorry figure. He lies to his friend, in order to get the missing papers. He loves a woman and permits a handsome man to win her, without so much as fight, usually. The white Sahib is portrayed as a rogue and a weakling, and, worst of all, a clown. White Sahibs allow themselves to be hit in the face with pies, they fall off wagons, they stumble over policemen in panic. Yet the white Sahib's disgrace does not end even here. Sometimes, on these foreign screens, he dares to love a native. And what happens? He is punished.

Poor white Sahib. It is not that way in India. The nobility of "Mr. A." is now the Rajah of Kashmir and Maharaja Begum, that reprehensible light of love, has married a wealthy merchant. For the white Sahib—pah!

ALIMONY FOR ABORIGINES.

Radio now reaches well toward darkest Africa. Eskimo maidens are wearing bobbed hair. The Igorrote head hunters have abandoned that pastime in favor of baseball. By this time the Wild Man of Borneo must be tame enough to favor white duck in stead of red paint costumes. From faraway Anchorage, Alaska, comes news that Charley Big Eyes, an Indian, has been ordered to pay his divorced wife alimony to the extent of one bull moose, ten milk skims, five gray fox pelts and 100 salmon. Gradually the blessings of civilization reach to the ends of the earth.

True, there are primitive people, still. The Thibetan would not feel at home on Broadway, and there are tribes in the Brazilian forests who haven't been exposed to the white men often enough to take to store clothes and motor vehicles, but their time is coming. Our own motor magnates are considering the possibilities of foreign markets more and more. An American oil magnate has gone to Mexico to build roads, and wherever there is a road, the rule is that it will be crowded with traffic. If we but give Henry time and raw material.

We who have taken to it gradually through many generations are pretty thoroughly agreed that civilization is an improvement on barbarism, but the reactions of the untutored in the waste places of the earth may well be different. Charley Big Eyes, paying alimony, may question the white man's justice, for he comes from a proud race with an unusual gift for letting the women do the work. The traditions of the haughty aborigines must yield to modern methods and morals, but the Indian paying alimony may feel worse about it than his white neighbor, which would be beyond words.

MR. ANTWERP'S OPINION.

"After reading the memoirs of Col. House and Secretary Houston, I have concluded that Mr. Wilson was a great man by the best definition we have," Mr. Antwerp said.

"That is, while probably acting upon his own judgment, he seemed to be acting upon the advice of everybody about him. Col. House is convinced that he inspired most of the Wilson utterances, and Secretary Houston recalls that the President was in the habit of calling him on the phone and asking him if this or that, which he was always glad to read, expressed the ideas advanced by the Secretary at the last Cabinet meeting.

"I have been glad to discover that quality in Mr. Wilson, because it is a quality remarked of every great man from the time of Caesar. Of course, what Secretary Houston did not guess was that upon such occasions as he recalls the President likely called up also Mr. McAdams, Mr. Lane, Col. House, etc., and went through about the same performance with each.

"It would be much better, in my judgment, for the Democrats in Congress to take this view than to berate these writers for attributing too much to themselves. They have already tanned the Colonel, and unless I miss my guess they will give the Secretary his within a very few days.

"Why not make what these gentlemen say the proof of Mr. Wilson's greatness rather than to charge them with attempting to make it appear that he never had an original idea? History is full of instances in which this very same thing happened, and it is the accepted method of determining how great a man he was.

"A truly great man is one who seems to be inspired by everybody who talks to him. If Mr. Wilson was not such a man I am misreading these memoirs," Mr. Antwerp said.

James Morris Morgan's "Recollections of a Rebel Reformer" (1917), page 69, says: The following appears on a headstone in the Methodist Cemetery, St. Louis:

Here Lie a Stranger Brave,
Who Died While Fighting the Southern Confederacy to Save Peace to His Dust
Brave Southern Friend
From Hand to
You Reached a Glory's End

Curiosity is in great and generous minds, the first passion and the last, and perhaps always predominates in proportion to the strength of the contemplative faculties.—Johnson.

It is no surprise to most of us to learn that the $2,000,000 voted for improvement by the people of St. Louis have occasioned something of a stir among those who hope to get some of it. We gain some notion of what the depths of that agitation are from things said in the difficulty between the Mayor and Mr. Wall, and no doubt if the whole state of excitement could be revealed to us we would appreciate how much money we voted. It is interesting to consider how we will come out of it—whether or not it will corrupt us or we have character enough to withstand its temptations. The various gold mines have not been characterized by a high morality. The forty-niners were pretty rough, and the people who went to the Klondike were little gentler. We know that Goldfield, which we visited at the height of its rush, looked for all the world like the front page of our Saturday paper. The discovery that Chicago, which is the sort of gold digger that knocks you flat with its spade if you get in the way, is interested in the bond issue field has already filled some of us with misgivings. If we hear of a New York contractor having been seen around the City Hall in the dark of the moon our apprehensions will likely do for us. The troubles with us in this matter seem to be that we voted too much money at a time when there is too little money. It was the voice of St. Louis crying, "Come on, boys!"

Sir: My first of the month mail was adorned with this:

"Knowing your interest in equitable legislation as to the control of business and commerce of our needs in the House of Congress of a man who will vote intelligently on matters pertaining to business generally, may I ask you to attend a complimentary dinner, Wednesday, March 3, at 6:30 p. m., at the Marquette Hotel, mezzanine floor, No. 204-05, at which time we will discuss William (Bill) Gray for Congress."

On consulting the local Who's Who I find that Mr. Gray's foremost qualification for office is the fact that he is and has been one of the most loyal satellites of that arch statesman, Victor J. Miller, and that his business experience has been in a window washing and house cleaning business.

It strikes me that it is most fitting that a man of such attainments and experience should aspire to Congress. Even more than that, I believe, that he should be elected. Who can gainsay the fact that a man with Mr. Gray's business experience will fit in most conspicuously with Mr. Coolidge's economy program? How can we have a housecleaning without the aid of expert housecleaners?

Anyway, the late Sam made Laurier and the rich man the same man, which shows whether or not this is the time of combinations.

A Philadelphia who swallowed a collar button has had three operations, all of which failed to locate it. If this sort of thing keeps up he will undoubtedly have to buy a new one.—Judge.

NEWSPAPER WOMEN.

CATHERINE BRODY in American Mercury for March.

THERE are no more than two dozen women reporters in all on the 13 New York papers of general circulation. . . . This much favoritism is shown them: they are not fired with quite the promptness that is suffered by men. . . . It is women who have to do all the crazy newspaper stunts. They have got themselves committed to insane asylums, have gone to prison, have made dismal tours of shops and factories on the trail of the poor working girl. . . . Genevieve Forbes of the Chicago Tribune is the girl who shipped in the steers from Ireland to report the perils of the migrant maidens, and she lived to reap her reward, for she was permitted to cover the Leopold-Loeb trial. However, all is not lost. I notice with admiration that the girl reporters are changing their tactics. No more stunts to win the professional respect of the city editor! They are concentrating on their appearance and attacking his money. . . . I cannot make up my mind whether there are so many good-looking girls in American newspaper offices today because the hungry ones, realizing that they have no chance, have given up, or whether the latter have been deliberately wooed into favor of the former. When I got a job on a New York paper, seven years ago, there was just one girl (it was not I) among all the New York lady journalists. . . . Among all the young, pretty and beautifully dressed. The rest were practical and common sense overcoats and imitations of the unkempt air of the old-time newspaper man, now also a dim figure of the long ago. . . . Regard them now! They are mad with love. Why, there exists a girl reporter who had danced three times with the Prince of Wales—and no one could improve his taste. One would almost say, looking them over, that there is now a new and conscious reason for the prejudice against them. Perhaps it is only a defense mechanism. The city editors tremble. I lack exact statistics, but in the circle of my acquaintance the number of newspaper women who have married men they worked with or for on assignments is simply terrific.

George White's "Scandals" an Amusing, Clever and Re-splendent Spectacle

By RICHARD L. STOKES.

WHY are the "Scandals" of the illustrious George White supposed to be scandalous? In popular opinion, no doubt, because of the addition of these revues to the annual edition, placed on view last night at the American Theater, is positively priggish in comparison with "Artists and Models." Besides, as is shown by the example of the ancient Greeks, there may be something educational and devout in exhibitions of what nature can accomplish with the human form when she really sets her mind upon it.

The genuine ribaldry of the "Scandals" lies in the rakish and humorous of its comedy. The revue, as a form, meant originally a satire upon current follies and foibles, and this series adheres to the tradition.

Travesties on the Theater. One number of the present show, for instance, burlesques the imbecilities of musical comedy. A melodrama of ruin in the stock market is interrupted, ludicrously, at its crisis by outbursts of the tragedians into song and dance; and the hero's mention of the seduction which led him to wreck provokes instantly a parade of models representing Temptation, Gold and Flaming Passion. In a similar travesty of a stock company, a plot of amorous disaster is solemnly performed to the hilarious antics of the Charleston.

Then there is a war scene, with a British garrison besieged by Arabs. The commander gives to his wife a revolver containing one last bullet, which she is to turn upon herself rather than fall into the hands of the Sultani. After one glance at this majestic barbarian, she promptly uses the projectile on her husband. In "A Good Girl," a daughter arrives just in time to prevent the victim from foreclosing the mortgage on the old homestead. She pays him off with $3000 in cash. Her aged parents, torn between rejoicing and suspicion, beg to be assured that she has been a good girl. "To get $3000 in Philadelphia," she rejoins, "you have to be good."

Highly Skilled Dancing.

Numerous pleasures of the sort are variegated by spectacles of clever originality and sumptuousness, as well as by quantities of fast-rate dancing, both choral and solo. Among the outstanding show pieces are "Rosetime," with a giant tulle laden with clusters of blooming girls; "Say It With a Smile," a lavish display of furs; and "Beware of the Girl With a Fan," a new and stunning effect in color.

There are two admirably trained ballets one taught by Albertina Rasch and the other by George White. The principals include Harry Fox, an engaging comedian; Tom Barron, a superb dancer; and a number of other stars. The show is a new and stunning effect in color.

Some of the singing is poor, and the dancing is not quite as good as that of George White. On the other hand, there is enough attractiveness in the large troupe of girls to cast doubt on a rumor that the supply has been exhausted. From the certain of brilliant to the finale, with the entire company tucked away for the night in cots, this is the most amusing, intelligent and resplendent show of the sort that has appeared here this year.

"Kosher Kitty Kelly" a Mildly diverting Farce With Music.

IT must have been the box office record of "Abie's Irish Rose" that inspired Leon de Costa to mix up the Jews and Irish as they are mixed in "Kosher Kitty Kelly," a character farce with music which made its appearance before a small and mildly interested audience at the Shubert-Rialto last night. What other reasons might have existed for its launching are not quite clear. Among the dozen or so musical numbers there appeared not one that lingered in the memory beyond the exit, its singleness was in keeping with its melodrama, and the following bit of repartee between Kitty and her mother seemed representative of its wholeness:

"Mother, you're horrible."

"Well, you take after your mother."

It is upon the characterization of Moses Gilsberg, a kosher food dealer, by Robert Leonard, and of Mrs. Kelly and Mrs. Feinstein, by Dorothy Walters and Jennie Moskowitz, that the work relies for most of its merit. These parts were well played with slender material, and the dancing of Chona Paula is eminently acceptable. The love story, which goes Abie on better by involving two Irish-Jewish romances, is in the hands of Nell Roy, as Kitty, Martin O'Leary, as Morris Rosen, Beatrice Allen, as Rosalie Feinstein, and Sam Critchman as Patrick O'Reilly. The play affords little plot, but does keep the audience guessing until the last act to the solution of the complications. The kosher delirium setting of the second act is realistic.

The principals include Harry Fox, an engaging comedian; Tom Patricola, the most violent of acrobatic dancers; Helen Hudson, prima donna; the McCarty Sisters, dancers and warblers; and Miller and Lyles, blackface comedians. Some of the singing is poor, and there is shameless plugging for George White. On the other hand, there is enough attractiveness in the large troupe of girls to cast doubt on a rumor that the supply has been exhausted.

The last story, which goes Abie one better by involving two Irish-Jewish marriages, is in the hands of Neil Roy, Kitty, Martin Grek, Morris Rosen, Beatrice Allen, as Rosalind, and Sam Critcherson as Patrick O'Reilly. Miss Helen Reyburn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Amadea Valle Reyburn of 5634 Lindell boulevard, is expected home the latter part of the week from Greensboro, N. C., where she has been visiting her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Wilkins Jones, the latter formerly Miss Charlotte Reyburn, are being congratulated on the birth of a baby daughter, their second child.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy J. Nobel of 7363 Maryland avenue returned today from a motor visit in Palm Beach and Jefferson Hills, Pa.

The Culture Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Fannie Oehler of 4532 De Cade street Thursday. Mrs. E. C. Crawford and Mrs. John Maney will conduct the program. "The Letters and Memoirs of Benjamin Franklin" will be the subject.

A 25-pound chunk of ice they took from the basement and gave to the customers in the front row. They talk, sing and whoop, and before the finish it is a close question whether stage or orchestra is more disorderly. It passes for good fun, a little experience—something like a trip through the violent ward of a madhouse.

The program is arranged mainly for laughing purposes. There is William Demarest, a killdeer of amusing observations. Occasionally he and his partner, Eddie Collette, are virtuosos of the violin and violin, but their routine has little to do with music. Perry Corway, a musical clown, extracts chuckles from the audience and comes from a number of unusual instruments. The main part of the Royal Gascoigne, aside from being a first-rate juggler, has a gift for Rabelaisian anecdotes. The Gascoignes also feature a little white dog that balances prettily on one leg on the tip of its master's nose. Gus Edwards, without Edwards' fall rather flat.

"Unconsciously funny," perhaps, is Charles K. Harris, a nice old gentleman whose chief claim for fame were those tender ballads of 20-odd years ago, "Break the News to Mother" and "After the Royal Gascoigne, aside from being a first-rate juggler, has a gift for Rabelaisian anecdotes. The Gascoignes also feature a little white dog that balances prettily on one leg on the tip of its master's nose. Gus Edwards, without Edwards' fall rather flat.

"Lilac Time" Is an Absurd and Romantic War Play. That moving picture gone astray, "Lilac Time," has the stage this week at the Empress. It is a business directed to the virginal purity of all French peasant girls, the high nobility of the whole British army, and an inference that if God would only interfere the Germans would not mind the Germans and nobody would have to do anything but pick lilacs.

Chief in the proceedings are Ione Marlene as Jeanine, a peasant lass, whose duties consist of wearing a black wig, picking lilacs and crying "Vive la France" and J. Lynn McFarlane as an English officer, whose duties are to perform hazardous investigations within the enemy lines, be unfairly accused of cowardice and win medals. The rest of the male members of the Woodward Players wear uniforms and sing "Pack Up Your Troubles in Your Old Kit Bag," the rest of the women are French mothers who spend their time saying "It is for France" with an American accent every time one of the Hennes bumps off somebody of the Triple Entente.

Last week in this space it was noted that the Woodward Players gave their best performance. This week the decision is reversed.

New Films

By NIE.

FROM a point of vantage in the last row of the uppermost seats at the New St. Louis Theater yesterday afternoon, we saw, or believed we saw, a picture called "The Pleasure Buyers." Back of us, somewhere, was the St. Louis Country Club, and about the same distance in front of us was the screen, for our immediate left was the fireproof, but not heatproof, motion-picture booth, and we had with us our overcoat with no place to put it but on. True, the heretofore mentioned coat has been through many seasons of motion-picture campaigning and the chill March winds do not always beat against it in vain—out of doors. As a protection against discomfort, however, when seated up against the ceiling, with 500 other picture fans reasonably close at hand, that is something else again. Under the circumstances, perhaps the management of the St. Louis will overlook the fact that we dozed off somewhere in the middle of the drama, and failed to see the unraveling of the mystery of why the film was called "The Pleasure Buyers," and who it was that shot and killed the villain who got his early in the proceedings, quite a while before we dropped off to sleep. We did gather that the story, which has its scenes in the wide-open gambling halls of Palm Beach, is one of those mystery plays where every respectable member of the cast is suspected of the murder. Probably, for picture dramas never get very far away from precedent, it turns out in the end that the only person who could possibly have been thought innocent turned out to be the guilty one. Maybe the man who was shot was the one who wrote the subtitles for the drama, and in that case it was coming to him. We understand that the vaudeville of the St. Louis bill is excellent. It ought to be with Hackett and Delmar, Johnny Burke and Jerry and Her Baby Grande being among those who furnish the entertainment.

Get Out the Blue Pencil. JUST why the management of the Missouri, or any other theater for that matter, would permit "The Sea Beast" in its present form to be shown is past explaining. It is quite possible that with a pair of scissors and the sacrifice of a few hundred feet of film this latest offering of that capable man, John Barrymore, could be made into a pleasing, if tragic, movie play, but with the hideous and sickening scenes, which show him portraying all of the long drawn out agony of a man who has just had his leg gnawed off by a whale, the drama is completely spoiled for every woman—and most of the men, in the audience. The introduction of these ghastly shots may make for realism on the screen but they are entirely unnecessary for the telling of the story and they ruin an otherwise splendidly made picture, "The Sea Beast"—the beast is the whale and not the title of one of the characters—is a drama of the early whalers of New Bedford and there are some fine views of sea life shown, the photography being unusually fine. "The Dime Museum," the second of the John Murray Anderson stage shows to be imported by the Missouri, is a fast moving and lavishly dressed drama.

Another Laugh Coming. THAT eminent patron of St. Patrick, Mr. William Goldman, impresario at the Kings and Rivoli, is preparing to celebrate the seventeenth of March with a 10 days run in his theaters of the Koshier Irish film drama, "The Cohens and the Kellys," which is said to be a sort of Abie's Irish Rose of the screen. True, Mr. Goldman, with keen Irish foresight, is not going to wait until the seventeenth to spring his prize offering. "The Cohens and the Kellys" starts next Wednesday and in the meantime he is filling in the gap with "The Storm Breaker," which shows House Peters in the role of a sort of modern cave man who bumps up against a woman who has been handling cave men pretty successfully all of her life. It is a good enough picture for four days.

ANTON HOCHDOERFER, 93, DIES. Father of Former Judge Succumbs to Infirmities.

Anton Hochdoerfer died yesterday of the infirmities of age, at his home at 355 Sidney street, where he had resided for 45 years. He was 93 years old, a native of Alsace and had been engaged in the wholesale meat business from 1854, when he came to St. Louis, until his retirement in 1896.

He is survived by three sons, Henry J., Dr. Daniel S., and former Judge Anthony A. Hochdoerfer, and by two daughters, Mrs. Magdalena Hoffman and Mrs. Amelia Harkins, all residents of St. Louis.

at the Grand Central, West End Lyric and Capitol could not have been saved to put into some of the comedies which are to come later. Both of these shows, neither with much of a plot, have enough laughs for a dozen or more ordinary movie offerings and the audiences at both theaters were in a continuous uproar yesterday. George Sidney, as our old friend Abe Polash, and Alexander Carr, as Maurice Perimutter, are the funmakers in "Partners Again" while Reginald Denry is responsible for most of the laughs in "Where Was I?"

THE INTIMATE PAPERS OF COL. HOUSE

Newell Baker, Daniels, Morgenthau
and others think he is the man you want for chairman. The fact that he comes from Pennsylvania is not altogether against him, for the reason that he will not be involved in any of the factional quarrels that seem to prevail in the doubtful states. Every faction would feel with such a man that they would have a hearing without prejudice.

Since dictating the above I have spent some time with Vance Mc-Cormick. Unless something develops that is not apparent, I believe
he is the man you want.

If you take Polk, you will have Lansing, a sick man, on your hands. Of this I am convinced, and so is Polk. . . . Affectionately yours
E. M. HOUSE.

Almost up to the moment of the Democratic convention at St. Louis Wilson remained undecided. On June 10 he wired to the Colonel,
asking if he could possibly act himself, and sent Dudley Malone to persuade him. But Col. House insisted that his health would not stand the strain of routine.

Wilson accepts McCormick.

"Even in Texas," he wrote, "I always had someone else who could relieve me not only of the details
but of the constant pressure of sea-ing unimportant people that demand interviews of a chairman.
Vance McCormick looks by far the best choice."

Wilson agreed, and McCormick,
regarding the call to duty as imperative, this time accepted.

"May 2, 1916, conference with Wilson: We definitely decided on
Gov. Glynn for temporary chairman of the St. Louis convention, and the President and I will aid him in preparing the keynote speech. I agreed to take charge of it, and after the speech is finished
I am to send it to the President for criticism."

"If the campaign is properly organized—and it must be," House wrote to Wilson on June 15, "we will win. It is only necessary to do the thing right, for we are in the position of advantage. This must not be a slipshod campaign, and we must definitely know by the first of October how you stand with the voters."

"I motored into the country," he noted on May 12, "with X and took lunch at his daughter's cottage."
We took this occasion to discuss the coming campaign, and I gave him for the first time what I had in mind. He was much surprised and remarked that I seemed to have thought it out pretty thoroughly, and I think he wondered why I had not taken him into my confidence before. He was pleased with the entire plan and hoped the President would accept it as a whole."

Col. House tomorrow outlines his astounding proposal that President Wilson, if defeated, surrender office
at once so that Charles Evans Hughes could assume charge of national affairs.

BRAND AGAIN
TO BE ASKED TO FORM MINISTRY

Left on the ruins of the Left bloc
The Senate wants to build a Central Democratic majority in the Chamber such as exists in the Senate, representing, it maintains, the true sentiment of France. If Brand refuses, Doumergue may ask Herriot to pull the Left into a coherent majority again.

Raoul Peret, who belongs to the Radical Left, might be asked to form the same combination in the hope that he would be better received by the moderate parties
than a strong Left leader such as Herriot. Joseph Caillaux is mentioned as possibly able to make the same political combination as Peret and as being strong with the Left bloc. Anatole de Monzie is another compromise possibility.

The most daring idea put forward is to induce Herriot, with the authority he exerts in the Left bloc, to unite with Raymond Poincare, but this seems impossible politically.

Brand remains the best choice,
especially as he could pick up the tax bill where it fell and perhaps rush it through before France suffered much. Brand's own chances, however, are compromised now that he is out.

Brand's Decline.

He broke the solid Left, as the last vote showed. Beginning with a majority of 315 out of 584 votes
in the Chamber a year and a half ago, the Left bloc three months ago lost Peret's party, the Radical Left, with its 48 votes, thus depriving it of an absolute majority.
Brand kept breaking away the Radicals and Radical Socialists, so in the end the Socialists had to combine with the disheartened opposition to defeat Doumergue's tax bill, and thus Brand.

Either the Left bloc must be made over, which Herriot or Peret might do, or someone must form a majority out of the broken parties as they stand, which Bri-
and failed to do.

Paul-Boncour Says Socialist Dictatorship Might Be Acceptable.

By the Associated Press.

GENEVA, March 8.—A socialist dictatorship for France, in the form of a Committee of Public Safety
based on the parliamentary system but "showing the flag" would not be displeasing if events forced it, M. Paul-Boncour is quoted as declaring in an interview with a Swiss newspaper.

Such a dictatorship would be less risky and more logical than a dictatorship by a single man, the French statesman added. Nevertheless, he was convinced that a less drastic remedy could be found in the constitution itself, for history proved that France always rose to meet any crisis.

M. Paul-Boncour compared the parliamentary commissions to the committees of the French revolution and the conventions of that magnificent period in French history which I admire more and more," but said that bills elaborated by the specialists in the commissions were destroyed by an incompetent parliament which had lost the confidence of the country.

FREED ON BOND, SHOOTS WIFE
CHICAGO, March 8.—William
Emerling, released from the Cook County Jail Thursday in $25,000
bonds for his part in an attempted safe-blowing, last night shot and probably seriously wounded his wife, because she had not been active enough to suit him in arranging for his release. The shooting occurred in the presence of their two small children, after which

Emerling and a friend, who had gone to his home with him, made their escape.

NO 'NUMBER PLEASE?'
ON NEW DIAL PHONES

Oldest Southwestern Bell Employee Gives Newest Device Its Final Test.

As a last test, shortly before the first automatic, or dial, telephone were put into public service in St. Louis at midnight Saturday, two employees who have seen the phone system grow from a struggling infant to a lusty giant in the half-century since Alexander Graham Bell found his invention worked, exchanged conversation over the wires.

Louis Helsher, paymaster of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., and its oldest employee in service, went to the new automatic Laclede-Prospect exchange, Grand boulevard and Botanical avenue, and sat before one of the new instruments. Six times he twirled the dial, in the same way that 2000 subscribers on the South Side are doing now. "C" and "E" he dialed, standing for Central, then 8, 5 and 1. There was a muffled clicking somewhere in the racks of intricate apparatus and an impulse sped over the wires to the old-style manual exchange, Central, at Tenth and Locust streets.

Union of Old and New. "Central chief operator," said a voice with a smile. It was Miss Frances Oberbeck, answering the ring of an old-style phone. The union of the old and the new in telephony was symbolized. Helsher was a bit surprised on hearing his voice so quickly, as he had been accustomed to hearing an operator intervening. "Number, please?" He asked. "What do you think of this rapid automatic service, Miss Oberbeck, compared with the crude service we had about 40 years ago?"

"I think it's wonderful," she said. Helsher went to work here for the old American District Telegraph Co., Oct. 4, 1875. There was a "dial" system then, similar to the present call system of telegraph companies' used to summon messenger boys. A few months later, March 10, 1876—50 years ago next Wednesday—Bell was able to say to his assistant over the first telephone, "Mr. Watson, come here, I want you." On March 6, 1878, the A. D. T. became the Bell Telephone Co. of Missouri. Helsher remained in the service, before the present company title before the present company title was assumed.

Miss Oberbeck became a phone operator at the old Rutger exchange, which had about 100 subscribers, May 19, 1883. There were only about 1000 phones in the whole city then, half as many as the comparatively small group of 2000 now selected for the first dial service.

Always Need for Operators. There will always be need for some operators to render special duties which machines cannot, and it will take some time to convert all the manual exchanges into automatic.

The company plans to spend $25,000,000 for telephone equipment here in the next five years, carrying out the announced program of conversion to automatic service.

Several blind persons are being taught to use the dial phone by their sense of touch, by Joseph Unterberger, placement agent of the Missouri Commission for the Blind. Telephone employees encountered one woman who could not read or write, whose son devised a sort of card directory showing her with symbols how to dial for the grocer, butcher and friends. Little difficulty was experienced yesterday by users of the new system.

BRIDE BEATEN; MOTHER KILLED
Husband of Former Held After Mysterious Attack in West Virginia.

By the Associated Press. MULLENS, W. Va., March 8.—Mrs. Belle MacMillan, 40 years old, is dead, and her daughter, Mrs. Ollie Nichol, 16, a bride of two days, is in a hospital with a fractured skull, the result of a mysterious attack on the two which occurred at their home in Tipton, 12 miles from here, Saturday. A 16-pound sledge hammer is believed to have been the weapon used. The 35-year-old husband of the girl, Tom Nichol, railroad section hand, was arrested and is being held in the Mullens jail. He steadfastly denied any implication.

U. S. Trade with Germany Increases
By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—American trade with Germany last year amounted to $624,995,750, an increase of $54,919,370 over the previous year. These figures, made public today by the Commerce Department, showed a gain in exports to Germany of $29,926,282 and an increase in imports from that country of $24,993,088.

Lindenwood Centennial, May 28-31. The Lindenwood College centennial celebration will be held from May 28 to 31, according to an announcement by officials. Twenty-three Lindenwood College clubs in various cities will take part in the celebration, which will end in commencement day exercises.

ARCHBISHOP RALLIES PUBLIC TO FIGHT OBSCENE JOURNALS

"Government may not legislate morality into people, but it ought to protect morality," Archbishop Glennon said in preaching yesterday at the St. Louis Cathedral on the prevalence of offensive and objectionable periodicals. "Our government has its statutes made and provided against the publication and mailing of obscene matter," he said, "but the Government must have the aid of public opinion to enforce the law, and here a great many objections are encountered. 'The press has its legitimate sphere of freedom. It may criticize officials, governments and laws, but the freedom of the press cannot justify dissemination of immorality, and no decent editor will claim such a privilege.'"

Speaking of a group of magazines which have grown out of a publication originally devoted to physical culture and health, the Archbishop said they were credited with having a circulation of 2,000,000.

"There is," he said, "and has been for some time, spreading over the country, a tidal wave of obscenity and vulgarity. If you will take up your Sunday paper you will find those things that are not to be named amongst us are set out before you in vivid pictures. You will see in the advertising invitation by suggestive heading to go to the theater, where the even more suggestive production is set before you. At the book stands you will find red-lettered publications and their offensive contents. These are augmented by publications brought from European centers, as if there were not enough native vulgarity."

MISSING MAN FOUND THROUGH HONESTY OF TAXICAB DRIVER

Shell-Shocked Veteran's Funds and a Bond, Turned In By Chauffeur, Locate Him.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, March 8.—Joseph Bartosz, a shell-shocked World War veteran, who disappeared two months ago, has been found as the result of the honesty of a taxicab driver. Bartosz was found wandering in a daze in Peoria, recently, and taken to the State Hospital for the Insane there. Relatives, unaware of his whereabouts, began a search, but found no trace of him until a taxicab company advertised for a Polish Government bond left in a cab driven by Ludwig Kalkus, and turned over by him to his employers. A cousin of Bartosz, living in La Salle, wrote the company that the latter was carrying about that amount of money and such a bond when he disappeared. At the same time an official of the Peoria hospital wrote that a man received at the institution had told of such a loss. The identification followed. Company officials said the money and bond would be turned over to Bartosz.

MACHINE TO PLANT CABBAGE

Abbe of French Village Patents Device to Handle Seedlings.

By the Associated Press.
NANTES, France, March 8.—A machine which sets out cabbage seedlings at a rapid speed has been invented by the Abbe Bacle, parish priest of the village of Treize-Vents. Having patented the machine, the Abbe, with the aid of the blacksmith and a young engineer, proceeded to build it and try it. With a little adjusting it functioned perfectly. Each seedling is caught gently by a moving arm and placed in a little hole, which is immediately filled up by another attachment. The inventor claims that the machine will save about nine-tenths of the labor usually required and plant the cabbages better.

CHURCH LEVY BASED ON INCOME

Principles of Law Applied to Kingshighway Presbyterian.

The idea of exemption for dependents, borrowed from the income tax law, is used in a schedule which has been sent to members of Kingshighway Presbyterian Church, for their guidance in making their pledges to church and charitable objects. It is asked that all persons without dependents give 10 per cent of their income, whatever the income. For those with dependents, a sliding scale is provided, based on the amount of income and the number of dependents, with the minimum rate 2 per cent, for those of small income and several dependents. The scale was prepared by business men in the membership of Kingshighway Church.

Mauer was entering the basement hallway when the robber sprang from a corner and struck him twice on the head. Mauer fell. The thief bent over him, cut out his pockets containing $40 and then forced open his mouth and stole the teeth. Five minutes after the robber fled, Mauer staggered to the street and reported the loss to two traffic patrolmen.

Gasoline and Wheat

No other two commodities have a more intimate bearing on the affairs of man than gasoline and wheat.

A brief study of their price relationship will prove interesting.

The Monthly Crop and Market Bulletin of the United States Department of Agriculture shows us that the average farm price for wheat in 1913 was $.784 per bushel.

During the same year, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) average Chicago tank wagon price for gasoline was $.14837.

These figures show that in 1913 one bushel of wheat would buy 5.28 gallons of gasoline. In 1925, the average farm price for wheat was $1.50118 per bushel.

And, Standard Oil Company (Indiana) average Chicago tank wagon price for gasoline was $.17276 per gallon.

Which, expressed in terms of commodity, means that in 1925 one bushel of wheat would buy 8.69 gallons of gasoline—or 64% more than it would purchase in 1913.

In other words, while the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) average Chicago tank wagon price for gasoline advanced 16.4% in twelve years, the average farm price for wheat increased 91%.

Factors which no man can control enter into the business of supplying the nation with food and with gasoline.

Inclement weather can ruin crops and influence prices. A dry well can waste enormous sums of money, which the petroleum industry must absorb.

The flow of crude, like the yield of wheat, fluctuates with conditions nature sets and which no man can control.

Yet the farmer and the oil man are able, within certain limits, to overcome these opposing forces.

Irrigation and "dry" farming have increased enormously the yield of grain in many localities.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana), by developing its famous cracking processes, has been able to double the yield of gasoline from a barrel of crude.

The farmer and the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) have had to meet increasing costs of production. The price of everything has gone up during the last twelve years.

The fact that the price of gasoline has advanced less than that of almost any other basic commodity is a tribute to intensive specialization in a highly organized industry.

The net result of Standard Oil Company (Indiana) efficiency in keeping down costs and selling prices, is reflected accurately in the affairs of every man, woman and child in the ten Middle Western states served by this Company.

Put the juice of two California lemons into one ordinary wash-bowl full of water and pour over the hair after shampooing. Follow by plain water rinse. It removes a curd formed by soap which is otherwise always left on the hair afterward. The hair is sticky and unclean in comparison when the California lemon rinse isn't used. The natural curl is lost. Note the difference when you use lemon in the rinse. Simply feel the hair. Also observe its lustrous appearance; see how the curl stays. That test will convince you. Further assistance in the rehabilitation of Murphysboro, Ill., which was greatly damaged by the tornado, March 18 last, has been provided St. Louis, a horse-drawn hook and ladder wagon, a horse-drawn hose wagon and 1000 feet of condemned hose having been sold the fire department of Murphysboro for a consideration of $1. RESTAURANT OWNER LOSES $147 IN DRY GOODS SWINDLE
Bugs Cloth at Telephone Request of Man Who Fails to Call for Material.

A man who entered the restaurant of George Kreas at 3121 Park avenue last Friday with six bolts of cloth under his arm, engaged Kreas in a conversation during which he let it be known he was a Rumanian who had smuggled the cloth into the United States from London.

He offered the goods for sale, and a man who came into the restaurant seemed interested. The man inspected the cloth, then left the store and telephoned to Kreas: "I'd like to buy that stuff, but he ought sting me. You offer him $147 for the six bolts and I'll buy them from you at a profit."

So Kreas paid $147 for the goods and the stranger departed. But the other man never returned to the restaurant. Yesterday Kreas took the 50 yards to a tailor and learned he had purchased shoddy material, worth, perhaps, $1 a yard or $50 in all.

A Silk Vest or a Rag Rug

here's a way to wash them both perfectly

WHEN you have a silk vest to wash you slosh it up and down in a bowl of warm suds. Air, soap and water are flushed back and forth through the fabric, and the garment is cleaned—gently.

The same principle is used in the Easy Washer—with one difference. Not only does the Easy wash dainty, filmy undergarments as carefully and gently as human hands; it also cleans the dirty heavy pieces thoroughly too. Grimy rompers and overalls, soiled dish towels, thick blankets, heavy bath mats and rag rugs—they all come out clean and sweet in the Easy.

Saves time, effort and clothes

There isn't a thing about the shiny, polished interior of the Easy's solid copper tub that can produce friction or wear on the clothes. With a big round copper tub that holds ten single sheets at one time, and a washing speed of a few minutes per tub, you can have the whole week's wash out of the way in a short time. And, best of all, you won't have a back that is tired, legs that ache, or hands that are red and roughened.

So handsome is the Easy that it looks well in the finest kitchen or basement laundry. You'll find it a quiet, smooth-running, trouble-free servant—one that lasts for years, and washes clothes cleaner, quicker, and more gently than any human hands could do.

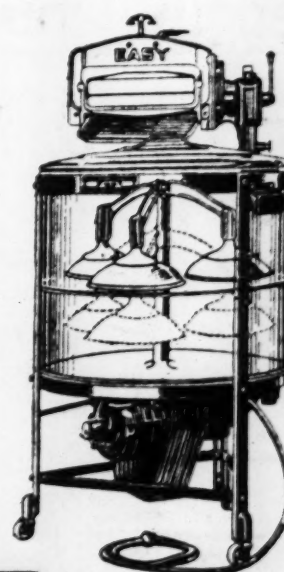

You can afford the Easy

No matter what your family income is, you can afford the Easy. A few dollars' deposit puts the Easy in your home. And once there it's never a burden to pay for the machine as you use it, on the extremely liberal Easy terms.

One week's washing free

We want you to get acquainted with the Easy and what it will do. We will send an Easy and a demonstrator to your home and do your entire week's washing. It won't cost you a cent or obligate you in any way. Take this opportunity!—Write us today for an appointment, or phone any Easy dealer.

SYRACUSE WASHING MACHINE CORPORATION
Syracuse, N. Y.

You know how a teacup pushed down into water forces air into that water. Raise the cup, and the suction causes both air and water to follow. The same principle is used in the Easy Washer. Like human hands, the Vacuum Cups press down, flushing air, soap and water through the clothes and back again. This happens 60 times a minute—without wear on the clothes, but everlastingly taking the dirt out of them.

The insurance company that merits public confidence is the one that not only meets its responsibilities squarely, but pays just claims promptly and courteously.

There is genuine satisfaction in presenting, in this advertisement, a partial record of the claims paid by the Federal Life Insurance Co., of Chicago to holders of F. R. S. Travel Accident policies issued through the Post-Dispatch.

Added satisfaction comes from the fact that holders of these policies were not required to subscribe for the Post-Dispatch in order to obtain the benefits that have come to them as holders of F. R. S. Travel Accident Insurance Policies.

The payment of $5609.28 to holders of these policies, issued through the Post-Dispatch without other requirement than the filing of an application and the payment of one dollar is a telling demonstration of the worth of the policies. It is also a tribute to the good judgment of persons who accepted our offering of a policy backed by a company of first rank and affording much protection at little cost.

Any Person—Whether a Reader of the Post-Dispatch or Not—May Have an F. R. S. Travel Accident Insurance Policy for One Dollar.

This Post-Dispatch offer does not require that you subscribe for any newspaper, so the risk of losing your insurance following a stopped subscription is not present in the offer. Your dollar, accompanied by the application clipped from this advertisement, completes the transaction.

The Policy Is a Limited Travel-Pedestrian Accident Coverage, but it provides for indemnity for disability, death, loss of sight or members, etc., resulting from certain accidents of travel and pedestrian risk, definitely named in the plain, understandable language of the policy itself.

No Physical Examination—No Restriction as to Residence—Anywhere in the United States or Canada

Merely send your application with a dollar and a policy will be mailed to you—that will protect you a full year without any other requirement. You will not be asked to make any further payment. The transaction will be closed and your insurance will not depend on whether or not you buy or subscribe for any newspaper.

MAIL OR BRING THIS APPLICATION TODAY WITH $1.00 TO THE POST-DISPATCH INSURANCE BUREAU, ST. LOUIS, MO.

I certify that I am more than 10 years of age, and less than 70 years of age, that I am neither deaf nor blind and that I am not crippled to the extent that I cannot travel safely in public places, and I hereby apply for a $5000 Travel Accident Policy in the Federal Life Insurance Company, issued through the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

TELLS OF FINDING RARE TAPESTRIES IN VENICE

Dr. Phyllis Ackerman and Husband Discovered Them in Attic of Cathedral.

Dr. Phyllis Ackerman, codiscoverer with her husband of $2,000,000 worth of early fifteenth century Gothic tapestries in the attic of St. Mark's Cathedral, Venice, returned yesterday, after a two-day visit in St. Louis, to Chicago, where she and her husband, Arthur Upham Pope, are connected with the Chicago Art Institute.

Although the discovery was made last August, the news did not reach this country until Friday. Dr. Ackerman told in a public lecture Saturday at the City Art Museum how she and Prof. Pope happened to make their rare find, after climbing to the upper attic of St. Mark's in search of quite different tapestries.

The lost examples of Gothic art—10 of them—were found framed and covered with burials in an obscure corner where they had remained unknown, she believed, since they were stored away when the coming of the Renaissance made them "out of fashion." Success and the fashion of design, with profuse use of foliage in decoration, dated them, she judged, about 1450.

With this find it became known for the first time that borders had appeared on Gothic tapestries before the Renaissance. These had elaborate formal borders in scroll work interspersed with medallions of the lion of St. Mark and the lamb of Christ. The story, clearly delineated with considerable resource to the Christian pre-Renaissance symbolism of color, was that of the Passion of Christ.

FURNISHINGS OF BONAIR

HOTEL SOLD AT AUCTION

Proprietors Decide to Retire and Dissolve Partnership of 10 Years' Standing.

All furnishings of the Bonair Hotel, formerly the Berlin, at the southwest corner of Pershing and Taylor avenues, are being sold at auction today and tomorrow, following the closing of the establishment last week.

The closing and auction resulted from a decision of the proprietors, G. H. White and R. C. Kennedy, to dissolve partnership and retire from business for a time. Kennedy recently went to Louisville, Ky., to live, and this and the fact that the lease expired recently resulted in the decision to cease operation.

"Our 10 years' of running the hotel have proved very successful and both Kennedy and myself decided to retire, at least temporarily, from active business," White said.

The building is owned by the Rodemeyer Real Estate Co. and has been offered for lease.

2 PCT. ON STATE INCOME TAX
Auditor Thompson Notifies City Assessor Gehner of Decision at Conference.

State Auditor Thompson today notified City Assessor Gehner that individuals and corporations who fail to make State income tax returns by March 15 will be assessed at the rate of 2 per cent instead of 1 per cent, the usual tax rate. Thompson stated this decision was reached in conference with a representative of the Attorney-General's office.

In the past those delinquent in making returns have been permitted to pay their taxes with small penalty. However, a special effort to collect the tax is being made this year.

EXPERIENCES OF CREW ADRIFF FOR 10 WEEKS

Captain of Schooner Tells of Pumping Night and Day to Keep Afloat.

PLYMOUTH, England, March 8.—The crew of the schooner General Smuts, rescued in the Atlantic after 10 weeks of hardships in the heavy seas, was landed here today by the Dutch liner Volendam. All were well except the cook, who was removed to a hospital. Doctors attributed his condition to malnutrition.

Describing his experiences to the Associated Press, Capt. Charles Rose of the General Smuts, said his schooner could not have kept afloat 24 hours longer when he and his crew were taken off.

"On Jan. 23," he said, "the schooner was in 43 degrees west, but the gales drove her back to 33 west by Jan. 27. On Feb. 2, the British steamer Settler provided us with biscuits, meat and sugar, but soon afterward our second lot of sails were blown away and the schooner started leaking. Pumping day and night failed to check the rising water. It was the worst weather I ever encountered."

Thomas Rose, the captain's 15-year-old son, was making his first trip across the Atlantic, and received a great lesson in seamanship when the schooner became unmanageable in the furious gales.

"All hands were cool throughout the emergency—cooler than we are now," he said. "Twenty-four hours before the Volendam arrived, a freight steamer passed within a mile while we were drifting helplessly, but no boat could have lived in the seas that were then running."

Thomas Sibbo and John Kipping, sailors, agreed that they had never expected to see land again.

The seas were terrific and all hands would have been washed overboard, they said. If the captain had not insisted that all wear lifelines. For days the crew was rationed on three small biscuits, a tiny quantity of brackish water and a little hot tea. The captain and crew of the schooner praised the treatment accorded them by Capt. de Koning of the Volendam.

Before leaving the steamer, they handed the captain a letter expressing gratitude for their rescue and also thanks to the passengers for a purse of $355.

ESTATE VALUED AT $539,000
INHERITED BY ST. LOUISANS

Appraisal of Property of Mrs. Sarah J. Arnold of Mendon, Ill., Filed at Quincy.

QUINCY, Ill., March 8.—An appraisal of the estate of the late Mrs. Sarah J. Arnold of Mendon, Ill., which she left to a daughter and grandchildren, who are St. Louisans, filed and approved in County Court here Saturday, places its value at $539,020.

The appportionment is as follows: Mrs. Lawrence Boogher of 4241 Westman avenue, St. Louis, Mrs. Arnold's daughter, $218,255; trust fund for her children, Sarah, Arnold and Frances Boogher, $174,757; Miss Alma J. Clark of 6234 Westminster place, St. Louis, Mrs. Arnold's granddaughter, and niece of Mrs. Boogher, $135,618.

Inheritance taxes on these bequests aggregate $18,544, that of Mrs. Boogher being $7895; of her children $5285, and of Miss Clark, $3564.

Miss Clark, whose mother is dead, is seeking to break the will, contending that as her mother's heir she should have a share equal to Mrs. Boogher's.

INDIANA MINE TROUBLE CAUSES INDICTMENT OF 87 PERSONS

County Grand Jury Charges Riot and Assault in Nonunion Field.

By the Associated Press.

BOONVILLE, Ind., March 8.—Eleven indictments charging 87 persons with violations of the law in connection with the recent mine disorders in the Indiana nonunion coal fields were returned by the Warrick County grand jury late Saturday. Two of the indictments which were withheld charge riot, three with charge battery with intent to kill and six assault. Warrants are expected to be issued Monday.

One man was stabbed and several beaten a few weeks ago when hundreds of union miners marched on nonunion mines in Southern Indiana in an effort to persuade the unorganized workers to quit. The "crusade" was partially effective, and when nonunion operators decided to reopen their mines, three detachments of National Guard troops were sent to Evansville to prepare for a possible battle. A second march failed to materialize.

Aldridge's widow, testifying, said she was married after knowing him one day, and declared her mother had informed Thompson he was back.

Using an Unproved Soap
On your face may prove a costly folly

That is why foremost beauty experts of the world advise this simple daily rule in gaining the charm of natural loveliness.

THE modern way to beauty is well charted. Leading skin authorities urge it. Thousands of beautiful women employ it. To endanger your complexion with untried ways is a folly.

Before Palmolive came, you were told "use no soap on your face." Because soaps then were judged too harsh.

Then came this famous creation. A soap made of rare beauty oils in expert blend. A soap made to be used lavishly on the skin. A soap that changed the beauty methods of the world.

Today the accepted beauty care is simply the balmy olive and palm lather of Palmolive used in this simple way. Beautiful complexions are too priceless for experiment.

Try this one week... note the changes in your skin

Wash your face gently with Palmolive Soap, massaging it softly into the skin. Rinse thoroughly, first with warm water, then with cold. If your skin is inclined to be

COOLIDGE ADOPTS HANDS OFF

POLICY IN SENATE PRIMARIES

White House Passes Out Word That He Will Not Intervene in Illinois or Any Other Contest.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—President Coolidge has passed out word that Republican Senators who face opposition in the primaries will have to fight it out themselves, without direct aid from the White House. He intends to adhere strictly to a hands-off policy, regardless of how loyally a Senator may have supported administration measures.

According to close associates, Mr. Coolidge feels it would be not only unfair but unwise to attempt to dictate to the G. O. P. following in any State the candidate who should carry the party standard in the mid-term term.

Senator William B. McKinley of Illinois, a staunch supporter of the President's policies, is waging a contest against Frank L. Smith, Republican Representative. Much pressure has been brought to bear to have President Coolidge take an interest in McKinley's cause. According to word at the White House, the President does not intend to yield to any such entreaties. Those who know Mr. Coolidge's views say the rule established regarding Illinois will be made universal.

A view growing out of the President's conclusion is that he does not wish to place himself indirectly before an electorate. Reports have reached Senators that even after the primaries the President will be reluctant to endorse any individual Republican candidate and will refrain from writing letters or making statements approving of any of his Senate's following. This is supposed to include Massachusetts, chairman of the Republican National Committee, who is confronted with one of the most difficult of the fall contests.

Railroads in 1925 Transported 375,000 Carloads With only 26 Accidents En Route.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Without death or injury to a single person, the American Railway Association announces American and Canadian railroads during 1925 handled more than 600,000,000 pounds of commercial explosives—approximately 375,000 carloads. Explosion of toy torpedoes, the Association's bureau of explosives said, were responsible for 24 of 26 accidents in transporting fireworks, none of which however, proved fatal, or injurious.

Only 13 were killed and 57 injured, the bureau said, in the railroad handling millions of pounds of acids, inflammable liquids, compressed gases, poisonous liquids and similar articles. Ten of these deaths and 15 of the injuries were due to explosion of gasoline, and the bureau added, "one-half the deaths and more than one-half of the injuries due to such accidents were the direct consequences of trespassers entering empty tank cars."

"Tex" Rickard, Fight Promoter, Unable to Obtain Sanction for License Transfer.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—"Tex" Rickard, famous prize fight promoter and director of New York's now Madison Square Garden, may not get a license for the broadcasting station he has bought and installed at the garden. It was indicated at the Department of Commerce that while application still is pending for transfer of the license from its former owner to Rickard, the fact that the plant has been moved presents a serious obstacle.

Although the department has frequently in the past transferred licenses to new owners of stations, none of the changes required a new location for the transmitters. Contested either in New York into which Rickard has moved the towers of his acquired station is considered crowded enough as it is without adding a new voice to Manhattan.

Had Rickard left the towers across the East River where they formerly were and operated from there by remote control it is believed that the transfer of the license would have been obtained without any question.

HOW TO SOLVE THE CROSS WORD PUZZLE.

Every number in the form represents the beginning of a word, reading either horizontally or vertically. If there is a black square in the grid, the word is horizontal; if above it, the word is vertical. The same number may, of course, begin both a horizontal and a vertical. The definitions for the correct words to fill the form and found below, with numbers corresponding to those on the form. Run through the definitions till you find one that you recognize, and put it in its proper place on the form, one letter for each white square. This will furnish several cross-words to the words linking with it at right angles. Continue in this manner till the form is completely filled. If you have solved the puzzle correctly it should read both horizontally and vertically with words corresponding to the definitions.

SHARP BREAK LATE IN WHEAT MARKET

CHICAGO, March 8.—Wheat prices were strong today largely because of the big decrease shown in early tabulations of the visible supply. These indicated a decrease of over 2,000,000 bushels. Trade was mostly local and was quiet. Early weakness in Liverpool caused pressure at the start but good support soon developed and prices rallied. Late fall factors were the main reason for the strength in Winnipeg and early indications of the big decrease in the visible supply.

Wheat broke sharply in the last hour today. An absence of outside trade and selling by early buyers on disappointing decrease of only 1,766,000 bushels in the visible supply caused the late break.

May, 1954, 58¢; 1940 to 1942, 19¢ lower; New York, 1954, 58¢; 1940 to 1942, 19¢ lower; May, 1954, 1.18¢; 1940 to 1942, 1.16¢; May, 1954, 1.18¢; 1940 to 1942, 1.16¢; September, 1954, 1.22¢; Corn closed 41¢ to 14¢ lower; May, 1954, 77¢ to 77½¢; July 80¢ to 80½¢; September, 82¢ c. Oats were 4¢ to 4½¢ lower; May, 39½¢ c. to 39½¢; July, 40½¢; September, 41½¢ c. Lard closed 7½¢ to 10¢ lower; bellies, 17½¢ lower. Local cash sales were 13,000 bushels of wheat, 25,000 of corn and 81,000 of oats.

The late bid in the pool encouraged the thought that foreigners would buy cash wheat at the September today. Mid-

ing demand was better and Minneapolis stocks decreased 176,000 bushels for two days. Severe temperature over the winter wheat belt was something of a factor. Supplies on ocean passage increased 7,913,000 bushels last week to 52,328,000. Commitment in more bullish and local leaders are taking advantage of dips to accumulate holdings. The bulk and fear of traders, however, are waiting the Government figures on farm supplies announced Tuesday. After that the bulls are counting on crop damage news to bolster their

In corn, trade was almost entirely local. A slight opening dip was followed by rally in sympathy with wheat. Receipts were moderate, the country sold no corn to arrive and Eastern demand was quiet. Supplies on ocean passage decreased to 210,000 bushels to a total of 12,000,000. Oats trade was featureless and prices moved with other grains. Eastern demand improved a bit. Provisions were lower with hogs.

Visible Supply Changes.
The visible supply of American grain shows the following changes in bushels for the week: Wheat, decreased 1,785,000; corn decreased 1,335,000; oats decreased 685,000; rye decreased 77,000; barley decreased 379,000.

The figures, issued today by the Commerce Department, show the following exports for the week compared with the week before: corn 601,600 bushels as against 456,000 bushels; oats 24,000 against 21,000; rye 201,000 against none; wheat 444,000 against 221,000; barley 117,000 against 240,000. Canadian grain in transit from United States ports totaled 1,821,000 bushels against 1,531,000, and wheat flour from the United States and Canada in transit totaled 207,000 barrels as against 167,000.

A few drops of "Outgro" in the crevice of the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and softens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it cannot penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost overnight.

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, grasy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

BETTER THAN SODA

For fifty years genuine "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

Winter Find You Tired and Achy?

Do You Suffer Constant Backache—Feel Old and Worn Out? Then Follow the Advice of These St. Louis Folks!

Do you get up these Winter mornings feeling tired, weak—achy all over? Are you so lame, stiff and miserable it seems you can never get back in trim? Does your back ache with a dull, constant throb? Sharp, rheumatic pains torture you at every step? Then you should be giving some attention to your kidneys!

Winter, you know, is danger time for the kidneys. That's because exposure to colds and chills wears down body resistance and throws an unusually heavy strain on the hard-working kidneys. The kidneys are apt to fall behind in keeping the blood-stream pure, and poisons accumulate that well kidneys would have filtered off.

Racking backaches come with stabbing pains; muscles and joints ache constantly; there are headaches, too, with dizziness and distressing kidney irregularities. Nerves are "jumpy"; one feels old—all worn out.

Give your weakened kidneys the help they need. Use Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. Doan's have helped thousands. They are recommended by many St. Louis people. Ask your neighbor!

"Use Doan's," Say These St. Louis People:

JOHN DIETHELM, 1834 Gravois ave., says: "My back ached and pained so I was laid up for a week at a time. Whenever I tried to bend the pain was much worse and I could hardly straighten. My kidneys were weak and sometimes acted too frequently and then again were sluggish. I used Doan's Pills from Fischer's Drug Store and they flushed my kidneys and did away with the pain in my back."

MRS. J. TOBINKA, 1502A S. 12th Boul., says: "After a cold, my kidneys were disordered, and I suffered with backache. When I stooped a catch across my kidneys made it hard for me to straighten. My limbs were affected by rheumatic pains and I felt tired and worn out. Dizzy spells also came over me. After using Doan's Pills from the Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., I was relieved."

NEW ELEMENT FOUND AT U. OF ILLINOIS

Discovery Resulted From Five Years' Research—Four Elements Unknown.

By the Associated Press.
URBANA, Ill., March 8.—Discovery of one of the five unknown chemical elements was announced today by the University of Illinois, as a result of the work of Dr. D. S. Hopkins, professor of inorganic chemistry, assisted by L. F. Yntema and J. A. Harris of the chemistry staff.

The new element is known in the chemistry world as No. 61. Eighty-seven of the possible 92 simple substances known on the earth, which make up all compounds that exist, previously had been isolated and identified.

The discovery followed extensive research covering more than five years in the rare earths laboratory of the university. Specially constructed X-ray machinery with which the work was carried on was designed and manufactured on the campus.

It was explained that as every known element may be made to produce X-rays which affect a photographic plate in a definite way, it is possible by using this X-ray to tell exactly what element is being dealt with.

Prof. Hopkins and his staff prepared rare earth specimens containing a large enough percentage of this unknown element, No. 61, and with the special X-ray equipment were able to study the isolated compounds of the new element.

The most recently discovered element had been announced in Copenhagen in 1913. The announcement created great interest, but the element is comparatively little known. The best-known element recently discovered is helium. This was first observed as existing in the sun in 1868, and then in 1868 was discovered on the earth.

The new element is of a metallic nature, but whether it may prove of high value commercially or otherwise, the chemists have been unable to predict.

Since only the X-ray photographs have disclosed it in the form of lines, no description or other indication of its possibilities has become available. The discoverers made up their own samples of "rare earth" in which the element was found and further experimentation will be made in an effort to obtain "No. 61"—for which no other name has been suggested—in large quantities in order to learn more about it.

TIE UP NINE WOMEN IN HOME
One Man Caught in New York
Residence, Held Too Late for $100,000 Bail.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 8.—Five of six robbers, who raided the home of Mrs. Caroline Williams last night, escaped with a $2500 ring, a string of pearls and other jewelry after tying Mrs. Williams to her bed and binding eight women servants.

The sixth member of the band, who said he was Joseph Peter Davis, 22 years old, was captured by two hotel employees when he fled at the arrival of police.

Exhibiting counterfeit revenue service badges, the men were admitted to the home by a maid, who was promptly seized. Seven other servants in the dining room were herded into the kitchen and tied to chairs. Mrs. Williams was dressing when two of the robbers entered her bedroom. After binding her, the men took her jewelry. Meantime, another servant, who had pretended to faint when the robbers entered, ran to a nearby hotel, where employees notified police. When police arrived, they were admitted by Davis, who apparently was unaware that his companions had fled.

Nearly $100,000 in jewels owned by Mrs. Williams and thought to have been the object of the raid, were stored in a vault a week ago, she told police.

Nally of Carr Street Station that his father gave him 50 cents Saturday with which he got the whisky at the saloon for his father.

AGED MAN KILLED IN FALL

Joseph Pohlmeyer, 80 years old, an inmate of the Good Samaritan Home for the Aged, at 1217 North Jefferson avenue, was conveyed from the institution to City Hospital at 10:30 a. m. yesterday, and died on arrival from a fractured skull and fractures of both legs and several ribs.

Sister Alvina Schell of the Home told police that Pohlmeyer leaped or fell from an outside porch leading from the chapel on the second floor, falling about 15 feet onto the lowest step of a stairway. Police reported that the porch was enclosed by a banister railing five feet high. A son, Fred Pohlmeyer, of 2158 Morganford road, was notified.

CHAPTER XVII

What Has Gone Before

Carolina Menendez, a beautiful young Spanish girl, brought up in a South American convent, is traveling alone to Los Angeles at the command of her guardian, whom she has never seen. Toward the end of her journey she wakes suddenly in the night and sees, clutching the curtains of the berth opposite, a white hand wearing a gorgeous ruby. This is the companion ring to one in her possession and was to be worn by her guardian to identify him at their meeting in Los Angeles. In the morning she learns that a man has been found in one of the berths, apparently murdered. Paul Reynolds, a young New York lawyer with whom Carolina became acquainted on the train and who is in love with her, claims the ring when it is found on the floor in order to protect her, as he believes it belongs to her until she explains the situation. Meanwhile, it is learned that Reynolds' brother, Walter, was traveling on the train with a woman, both under assumed names, and that they had been seen in conversation with the dead man before leaving the train in the evening. Reynolds had not seen Walter before in years, due to a family quarrel between Walter and his father over the father's second wife, Cynthia Reynolds. Frank Hyatt, Reynolds' Los Angeles attorney, joins him in answer to a wire and says he has word from Walter about their father's will, concerning which there is some mystery. At an unexpectedly revived and gives his name as Mario Milana. He secretly slips Carolina a note and they disappear together on reaching Los Angeles. Reynolds and Hyatt consult the police and through them the train is searched for possible clues and a note is found.

IN SPANISH

THE SPANISH which followed the telephone message was well nigh intolerable to Paul and his friends, and although it lasted but ten minutes the younger man of the group felt that he had lived ten years of his life—dreams, hopes, fears, all in a thousand questions presented themselves to his mind. What did the note found in the Pullman contain, who had written it, to whom was it addressed, and as often happens in such cases, he thought of every possibility but the right one—but then, what mind could have foreseen the truth?

The detective who brought the note was an unimpressive young man, but apparently knew his business. "This is all there is in that car," he said, "or in any car on that train. Looks like a letter all right, written in some poor language." He handed a slip of paper to the Chief while Burns, Hyatt and Paul crowded eagerly forward.

"Spanish," the Chief announced briefly. "Bergen can read it. Call him in."

Paul was the nearest to the door leading to the inner room, and as he hastily opened it Bergen's voice, speaking over the wire, sounded clearly.

"You're sure it was her car? Oh, you knew the chauffeur. Sure there was no one else in it? All right. No, keep it under your hat till you hear from me. O. K." and as Paul beckoned to him he came hurrying into the room, reaching for the paper the Chief held out.

"Spanish!" the young detective repeated, "In lower two, crack between seat and window, you know."

"Read it," the Chief directed. "Aloud!"

"Yes," the young detective read, "In lower two, crack between seat and window, you know."

DO'S AND DON'TS —For— SUCCESS IN BUSINESS By NELLIE E. GARDNER

How Much Do You Keep?

NOT how much we get but how much we keep is the test of our business brains. Scorn money as much as we will, there is no denying its value and the mental peace its possession assures. Money is first of all a commodity—a buying commodity. It can buy for us not only houses and furniture and clothes, but also security, contentment and freedom from worry. After all, why work all our days for twenty or forty years, if at the end of that time we cannot devote our life to the pursuits that please us most?

Neither the time clock nor the alarm clock should be our perpetual boss.

But unless we begin to make regular trips to the bank or the bond house or the insurance broker, or the realtor—or some person or organization that deals in permanent investments—old age is certain to find us still strap-hanging with the morning rush hour!

Not what we earn, but what we save, determines our future. It is just as foolish to spend all our earnings as it is to save them all. Because you do not want to be a miser is no excuse for being a spendthrift.

To work hard, receive a good income, and spend it all is plainly stupid. It is the sort of business acumen that one might expect of a child. Yet how frequently is it never outgrown in maturity!

Putting aside a certain percentage of one's income, regularly, is neither a hardship nor a deprivation.

It is merely a sensible habit—a habit easily formed, if one starts out with the right intention and viewpoint—and a habit that leads directly toward the gate of release from enforced labor.

Women workers are only just learning to save their money. That is, to save it permanently and purposefully. They have always saved it in what used to be called "dribbles"—that is, in the dime bank, or in the kitchen clock, or beneath the paper on the closet shelf!

But those were the days when women were not as independent and self-supporting as they are today, and when they were obliged to coax, and pinch, and scrimp, for the dollars that purchased the family's needs. And how rare were the personal luxuries!

Today, women can think in terms of tens of thousands—for our earning power compares favorably with men's.

But what about our saving power? There we have much to learn! It is time for us to go to school to the investor.

FAMOUS FORTUNE

By BARBARA BAYNE

Quincy Adams Shaw—Copper Magnate

NO tale that has flowed from the fountain pen of modern fictionists can surpass the romance of the actual history of the Calumet and Hecla. The accidental discovery of the copper-bearing conglomerate by E. J. Huribert, his tragic death, the struggles of Quincy Adams Shaw and Alexander Agassiz, the founder of the mine, has proved epochal. The theme is worthy of Balzac.

It is more than a mine. It may well be called a dynasty, for the ownership of the stock is handed down from sire to son. When the children have been good they are rewarded with a share or two of Calumet and Hecla stock and the next age eventually hatches into a million dollars.

There is no copper stock in the world which attracts more attention, yet it has never been active on the Boston Stock Exchange because its value is too high for it to be a mobile issue on the stock market.

Huribert, a geologist and explorer in the employ of the Huron mine prior to 1856, according to most authentic accounts, while prospecting on the Keweenaw peninsula, accidentally struck the richest of copper veins. Then he secured the land from the State of Michigan, both determined to make the Calumet and Hecla a mine and succeeded beyond his most extravagant dreams. Shaw died in 1903.

Deviled Mushrooms. Chop or break into small pieces one-half pound of mushrooms, season with pepper and salt, prepare in the usual way. Mix the yolks of two hard-boiled eggs with two raw ones and stir with a cup of milk or cream. Put a layer of crumbs in the bottom of the baking pan or dish, then a layer of mushrooms, scatter over this with butter, pour on a part of the cream and egg mixture and continue until the dish is full, having bread crumbs with butter for the top layer.

Bake for 30 minutes, closely covered in a hot oven, then uncover and broil about five minutes or long enough for the top to be well browned. If preferred, water and onion juice may be substituted for milk or cream.

A FAMOUS chef once said, "In the preparation of Coffee it is essential that the Coffee used be the finest obtainable and absolutely fresh." No words could be more appropriate for French Brand, for this unsurpassed Coffee is delivered to our stores freshly roasted twice a week.

NO LAUNDRY. No easily disposed of as a piece of tissue. No laundry. No embarrassment.

You get it at any drug or department store simply by saying, "KOTEX," you ask for it without hesitancy.

Costs only a few cents. Eight in 10 better-class women employ it. Proves the unnecessary risk of old ways.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Keeps Them in Shape.

When poaching your morning eggs add a teaspoonful of vinegar to the water; it helps to set the white and keeps it from spreading.

On the Hot Water Stove.

One woman puts her double boiler containing her morning cereal on her laundry stove at night before retiring. She claims there is just enough heat to thoroughly cook the cereal by morning.

Ready for Another Cleaning.

After cleaning garments in gasoline we sometimes have a quantity of the gasoline left. If the gasoline is poured through filter paper all dirt will stay in the paper and the gasoline can be used again for soiled garments.

Don't Discard It.

When you get out last year's white felt hat this spring don't hastily decide to give it away because it is soiled. Half a cup of gasoline mixed with enough cornstarch to form a paste spread over it and allowed to dry will clean it beautifully. Remove the dried paste with a stiff brush.

Hot Egg Sandwiches.

Boil six eggs hard, cool, remove the shells and chop fairly fine. Add pepper, salt, a teaspoonful of chopped parsley, the same of chopped capers, a tablespoonful of butter, a level teaspoonful of cornstarch dissolved in four tablespoonfuls of light cream. Heat and stir until blended and slightly thickened. Have ready slices of carefully toasted and buttered bread on hot plates. Fill and cover sandwich fashion with the egg and meat with a little cream sauce or a good drawn butter. Garnish with sprays of parsley.

Watch Your Breakfast

Eat food that supplies "balanced" ration after night's fast

HOW you feel all morning depends largely on what you eat for breakfast. Thousands have energetic forenoons because of wrong breakfast eating.

To feel right, you must have well-balanced, complete breakfast ration. At most other meals—lunch and dinner—you get it. But breakfast is a hurried meal, often badly chosen.

March 8, 1815—115 years ago

The birthday of photography. Joseph Nicéphore, a Frenchman, during experiments in the chemistry of sunlight, conceived the idea of photography. Fourteen years later he produced the first permanent photograph by means of a camera constructed from a cigar box, a microscope and a lens. The first picture, a landscape, was taken on a piece of limestone, coated with bitumen or Jew's pitch and required an exposure of over seven hours.

NOTES ABOUT WOMEN

Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, militant suffragist, is back in London after seven years spent abroad.

Because he said she was too fat, Agnes Ayres, film star, is suing Cecil B. de Mille for $25,000.

Mrs. Henry Ford, wife of the automobile manufacturer, has purchased the block in Detroit where she was born and will erect a church and library as a memorial.

Well, murder's a mighty serious crime, especially when the fellow knows that a whole train full of people are after him! He wanted to get the girl away and has thrown a big scare into her to make her follow. She swallowed his bait easily enough and hurried off.

"And when he finds she left the rings behind?"

"That's still more serious for him, for somebody must have the rings! No, he isn't going to kill her off yet. Maybe hard to track, though. He'll get over into Mexico and then it's the devil to pay. Still, as I said before, you can trust Gaius! What I'm dishing for is the motive behind this game. What is it, a big reward for some kind of Blackmail? Something connected with you people, all right, isn't it?"

"I'm afraid it is," Mr. Burns replied. "The Reynolds family, like many others, has a skeleton. Mr. Reynolds was estranged from his oldest son, and although he treated him most handsomely in his will, in addition to previous settlements upon him, we have reason to think that this son is about to make trouble, involving an additional sum of money from the estate rather than to resurrect the skeleton. # NEW PLAN TO END LEAGUE ROW OPPOSED BY GERMANY

Nation Unwilling to Let Poland Have Council Seat
in Return for Reduction of Occupied Zone.

WANTS TO ENTER
COUNCIL UNTIED

Spokesman Says Deadlock
Is Due to Berlin's Refusal to Declare for a Special Candidacy.

By the Associated Press.
GENEVA, March 8.—Any suggestion that France might offer diminution of the forces in the Rhine area, in exchange for German acquiescence to Poland's
admission to the League of Nations Council, falls on barren ground, so far as the German delegation here is concerned.

This was made clear today by a German spokesman, following a hint along that line, conveyed through the Geneva newspapers.
The published articles remarked that Chancellor Luther and Foreign Minister Stresemann could easily convince German public opinion that the withdrawal of additional French troops from German soil was preferable to an uncompromising insistence that when Germany enters the council she must enter alone.

"The question of the Rhineland occupation is a matter between the allies and Germany," the German spokesman said. "The question of enlarging the League council is purely a League question and all candidates for permanent or non-permanent council seats have equal merit in our eyes."

There is considerable resentment
at the German headquarters over the attitude of the entente press
in picturing Germany as the storm center of the council membership controversy and describing her as wanting a blanket veto even before becoming a member of the League.

Germany's retort is that she is on the verge of entering the League and that "a certain group of powers" is trying to get her to take side and pronounce in favor of one or more candidates for council seats before she herself is admitted to that body.

"German public opinion," the German spokesman pointed out,
"was that we were invited to enter the council under the status quo. Now, at the last minute, an extra stipulation is made that we declare ourselves clearly in favor of one or more special candidates.
Germany refuses; that has caused the deadlock."

"Germany has no reason to enter such a 'deal,' she wants to enter the council with hands untied
and take the permanent seat promised her and she fails to understand why a 'stop' signal should be turned against her at the eleventh hour. We find no reason in law or equity why as a prior pre-condition should be asked of us."

Heretofore when dealing with the allies, he pointed out, Germany had entered conferences with a 100 per cent program but had to be content with realization of only from 80 to 85 per cent of it from sheer force of events and because of her position as a vanquished nation.
That day is past, he said, and the Germans in Geneva have made clear that Germany no longer is going to give in at the last moment.

German-Scandinavian Bloc.
"Our position on the enlargement of the council is not an endeavor to drive a bargain or to get anything special for Germany," he concluded. "This league question should be decided by the league itself."
Sweden continues to hold the whip hand in the controversy, he said, with unanimity necessary in the council, her vote can prevent any enlargement, and it is remarked that a kind of Germano-Scandinavian bloc is forming against reconstruction of the League's administrative board.
The situation today is that five members of the council favor the creation of one or more additional seats, namely, France, Spain, Italy, Czechoslovakia and Brazil. Sweden is openly hostile, while Great Britain, Japan, Belgium and Uruguay continue reserved or open minded.

LAY OF A HARD BOILED EGG.

"THEY'RE coming from Carondelet and Baden.
They're coming from the East and from the West;
With bullets and petitions they are laden,
To shoot the buttons off my Sunday vest.
But me! I'm bullet proof and tough as leather;
This fire-eating stuff for me is pie.
If an ounce or two of lead
Ever hits me in the head, I'll just rebound and kill the other guy."

"I out-buffalo Buffalo Bill when
in his heyday,
I'm a terror when I start to do
my stuff;
I shoot up towns and counties
every pay day,
And a pickax wouldn't dent me,
I'm so tough.
Impervious am I to slings and arrows,
My word is law whatever I decide,
In my pachydermous skin,
You could never stick a pin.
For, it's thicker than an alligator's hide."

Ha!
When Wall Street passed the Nickel Plate the L. C. C. dropped in a button.
It appears that the Lower

House, the Upper House and the White House wouldn't have got very far in the war without the able assistance of Col. House.

"Baby Buggy Leads Strikers' Parade."

Is this a strike in some of our infant industries?

Manager Hornsby says that Blades is the only Cardinal outfielder who has a dead open and shut clinch on a regular berth.

"John D. Sinks a Par Four."

But he got more kick out of it than sinking an oil well.

"Vanderbilt To Hunt Fish In Galapagos."

What's he going to hunt them
on a sea horse?

Galapagos we learn are islands
and not a new kind of hunting breaches.

We gather from recent action of the I. C. C. that there is quite a difference between nickel-plated
and gilt-edged stocks.

At any rate, thanks to Mr. Wall,
we do not have to Fletcherize our water before swallowing it like we did once upon a time.

"What Price Glory?" Oh, about $2.50, including war tax. Cheap considering the high cost of wars and everything.

As Congress failed to do anything to alleviate the high cost of "Follies," the old slogan of "40 or fight" will continue in effect until further notice.
